Stirling fall fair coming this weekend

Stirling Fall Fair, a highlight in the year's activities for residents of the village and the surrounding townships will take place on Friday and Saturday of this week.

Sponsored annually by the local Agricultural Society, the fair will have attractions for young and old, as well as urban and rural dwellers.

Directors of the fair are hoping that the citizens of Stirling and community will show their appreciation for the efforts put forth, by giving their wholehearted support to the fair, not only by their attendance but also by competing in as many events as possible.

The directors wish to thank the citizens of Stirling and Hastings County, who, by their generous donations, have assisted them in arranging for this year's fair.

All of the familiar events are again on the agenda and a good afternoon's entertainment is promised for Saturday. A highlight of this year's fair will be the performance of the Singing Posters family of Ameliasburg. An open horse drawing contests also is on the program.

Light horses will again be featured for many of the classes shown in front of the grandstand. This event proved very popular at the last three fairs and a large exhibit of horses is expected.

There will be races for small ponies and a musical chairs competition open to ponies.

There will also be the usual excellent horse and cattle exhibits, as well as sheep and swine. In the main building will be found the ladies work exhibits, cheese exhibits, high and public school exhibits and the horticultural exhibits.

The farm machinery companies will have their usual displays of farm equipment on the grounds. The Western games program which has proved so popular in the past will again be featured this year. This attraction lasts all afternoon and draws a large number of contestants from across the province.

Arrangements have been made to have the Ellis midway for children from Trenton on hand for the fair.

Refreshment booths will be in operation on the grounds.

Citizens of Stirling and the surrounding area are expected to be out in force to lend their support to the Agricultural Society.

SPECIAL GUEST AT SPRING BROOK WI

George Hees, MP for Prince Edward-Hastings, spoke at the Spring Brook Women's Institute last Wednesday afternoon.

Hees was greeted by Mrs. George Williams, left, president of the Spring Brook Women's Institute and was introduced by Mrs. Lorne Melnroy.

George Hees speaks to Spring Brook WI

Everyone can have an important influence on the creation of the laws which are passed by the Parliament at Ottawa, George Hees, MP for Prince Edward-Hastings, told members of Spring Brook Women's Institute last Wednesday.

Mr. Hees was the guest speaker at the WI meeting held at the home of Mrs. Gerald Broadworth. Responsibilities of Citizenship was the topic of his address.

Mr. Hees said the first step in becoming a good citizen is to examine carefully the performance of the major political parties in Parliament, and decide which policy approaches most closely your idea of the way the country should be run.

After joining the local riding association of the party chosen, one becomes better informed about the important issues which affect the riding and the country as a whole, he said.

As a general election approaches, one is then able to help get him elected, he went on to say.

"If your candidate is successful, it is then he or she who follows his activities in Parliament to see if he is speaking out forcibly, as he promised he would do in his election campaign, for the issues that are of importance to his riding," said Mr. Hees. "If not, you must let him know that you are disappointed in his performance and strongly urge him to live up to the commitment."

of you to make use of those means. "Although what I have been discussing with you has dealt with the federal level of politics, it applies equally to the provincial level as well, as the provincial level operates on the same kind of riding basis as the federal. Although the municipal level does not operate with parties, but with individuals, the principle of judging the individual's policies and performance are just the same as for the federal and provincial levels."

"I think you will agree that the democratic system works just as well as we individuals want to make it work - no better and no worse. If we are all willing to devote a little of our time to seeing that the system works better than it has worked in the past, we can make sure it does by putting a little work into it. As you will agree, I feel sure, the running of our country, our province or our municipality is very much up to us."

Mr. Hees was introduced by Mrs. Dora McInroy, who gave the introduction in the form of a 32-line poem. The guest speaker seemed highly impressed by Mrs. McInroy's poetic talents.

Mrs. W.J. Barlow thanked Mr. Hees and presented him with a gift in appreciation of his visit to us and his interesting talk.

Mrs. L. Cassidy gave a humorous reading.

At the close of the meeting the hostess and her assistants served refreshments and a social time was enjoyed.

Girls defeat Madoc

The Stirling Girls softball team has defeated Madoc Tannery two games straight to allow them to enter the finals. The girls edged Madoc 17 to 16 on Monday night, August 23 in the first game and in the second game this past Monday night, 13 to 10.

In the first game, Stirling led for all of the game but might have lost the game through errors. Marg Baleman came in to relieve Sue Wright in the bottom of the seventh. She struck out the three batters that faced her from the Madoc team. This gave the girls their win.

In the second game Stirling fell behind in the first inning but managed to get one run in during their bat in the bottom of the first. Susan Wright obtained the score on a home run.

With the score Tannery 3 and Stirling 1, and with the bases loaded, Susan Wright again hit a home run. Stirling kept the lead until falling behind in the top of the seventh.

Trailing by one run and runners at second and third bases and none out, Kathy White drove in two runners, Sue Wright and Marg Baleman, with a triple. These proved to be the winning runs of the game.

The Stirling team will now enter into the finals against Marmora or Cooper.

Bantams win 16-3

In the second game of the best of three zone finals against Pakenham last Wednesday night, Stirling won by 16 to 3. Stirling won 13 to 4 in the first game of the series. Pakenham obtained their runs in the fourth and ninth innings. Glen Detlor led Stirling off in the second inning off a single by Kevin Solmes while Stan Myers added to the inning with a home run hit to right field. Tom Reid, David Jeffs, and Paul Sharp off a double by Glen Detlor all added runs in the second inning.

Terry Bailey, off a double by Reed Morton, Tom Reid off a double by Paul Sharp, and Paul Sharp off Tom Reid, all added runs for Stirling in the third inning.

Kevin Solmes, off a sacrifice hit by Stan Myers in the fourth, and Glen Detlor off a sacrifice hit by Kevin Solmes in the fifth, boosted the team's score. Paul Sharp, in the fifth, also added to the score.

Stan Myers scored a run in the sixth off a triple by Tom Reid. Glen Detlor's seventh inning run off a single by Kevin Solmes made the score 14 to 1 for Stirling. Stan Myers and David Jeffs completed the teams scoring in the eighth inning.

Pakenham picked up their last two runs in the ninth inning. Stirling picked up five runs in the second, four in the third, one in the fourth, two in the fifth, one in the sixth, one in the seventh, and two in the eighth inning.

David Jeffs started on the mound until the seventh inning when Reed Morton came in to relieve him. Jeffs had nine strike outs and walked one while Morton struck out four. Jeffs, in the OAS series, has a record of won six, lost one while on an overall game tabulation, he has won 19 and lost seven.

The team is waiting to go into semi-finals some time this week.

Stompin' Tom Connors coming to Jamboree

Stompin' Tom Connors is tall, lean, and has that weather-beaten look of a man who spends a great deal of his time out of doors. Instinctively, you guess that he has seen more places and more times - good and bad - than most of the rest of us; that he could, if he had to, catch a rabbit, skin it, and cook it.
Tom Connors is a star in some parts of Canada - but he remains an unusual oddity; a man without a family or a permanent home who composes hundreds of songs about the people he knows and the places he's seen. And, his manager claims, he's out-selling every other country and western recording artist in Canada with the exceptions of Charlie Pride and Johnny Cash. Stom-pin' Tom Connors may be a country boy from Tignish, Prince Edward Island, but he's got nine L.P.'s on the market, his singles sell like hot cakes, and it's hard to get in the door when his name's on the marquee outside.

It wasn't always like that, and the French-Canadian dockworker who shared a rooming house with Connors in Halifax and who showed him two guitar chords, has never discovered what he started. Both chords, in fact, were wrong - but Connors was on his way.

He had been born in Saint John, New Brunswick, orphaned and shipped off to foster parents in Tignish. "I had some disagreements with my folks," Connors says today. "And I left for Halifax, I guess I was 15 or so then, but I had a little sense, and I kept to my schooling, at least for a couple of years. The Children's Aid looked after me, and I did after-hours jobs when school was over. Then I took to working on the docks, and when I left school, I was ready to go out on my road."

Tom Connors started traveling, and he's still doing it. Now he has a truck with a camper on the back, but at 16 he had only his thumb to ride with.
Connors' nickname came in Peterborough, Ontario. "I think the fellow there forgot my last name - anyway, one night the waiter gets on the microphone to introduce me, and shouts, 'well, lads, here he is - Stompin' Tom!'
And I thought, right there, well
I'm going to be stuck with that,
and I have been."

The pace of composition didn't slacken a bit - and Connors now has nearly 500 of his own songs, and an incredible repertoire of country standards. He's produced 15 singles and four albums of his own material on the Dominion label, as well as a special five album set of traditional country songs by a variety of other composers.

Some of the singles have hit the top of country charts - and Mrs. C. Young 92 years old

A pleasant afternoon was spent in the Edward Street Manor, Stirling on Thursday, August 26,
when Mrs. Caroline J. Young (formerly Carl Spafford of Sidney township) celebrated her 92nd birthday.

Miss Sandra La Chappelle entertained the guests with her delightful singing. She accompanied herself with a guitar.

A pretty birthday cake with many lighted candles, along with ice cream, mints and fruit juice were served by the staff.

Mrs. Irene Hogle expressed thanks to all who participated, on behalf of Mrs. Young, for such a very pleasant birthday party.

Are storks for real?

The rate that Senior Citizens have been having birthdays lately indicates that we will all be born again. Seventy or 75 years ago the stork must have been a busy bird or maybe had lots of helpers. I don't believe in storks.
Now how in heck could a stork carry three great big babies like Will Fitchett, Martha Wood and Jessie Johnson in a napkin all in one mouth full? He may have dropped them one at a time but anyhow they landed here and are still in one piece. Margaret Fitchett came parading in with a large, lighted cake and we sang the birthday song for them in three or four different keys.
Edna Campbell, Evelyn Finch, Florence Hough and Martha Wood served a nice lunch. Next week we will play progressive euchre again. Glad to have Nellie Carter of Frankford and Annie Homes of Anson as visitors.

Just as an example of how bad unemployment is getting, there was an organ grinder whose monkey died and he got 42 job applications—three of them from monkeys.

Maybe things are worse than I thought. I saw a guy sitting on a park bench wearing one shoe.
When I asked if he lost his shoe
he said, "No, I found one."

Loyalist College begins new program

Robert Mackenzie, Sherritt H. Collier of Picton, who is a member of the Loyalist College Board of Governors and Loyalist President, Herbert Young jointly announced today that Loyalist College will initiate a co-operative program to train mental retardation counsellors this September. Contractual arrangements have been completed with the new hospital for the mentally retarded in Picton, "Prince Edward Heights", whereby Loyalist will provide the complete academic portion of the training. The trainees are recruited by the Mental Retardation Branch of the Department of Health for a two-year program of training. Upon successful completion of the program, trainees are awarded a Mental Retardation Certificate by the Department of Health. They will then be employed as residential counsellors at any of the facilities in Ontario dealing with the mentally retarded.

The program will be set up so that the students will alternate between Picton and Belleville, and the academic portion of the program may therefore be immediately applied in a clinical setting. Such a co-operative venture is new both to the community college system and to the Department of Health, and Loyalist College intends to use such a model in the structure of future programs, dealing with human well-being.

WEEKLY REPORT

FROM

FOXBORO DISTRICT

(CO-OP)

(BY JACK WOOD)

Some cattlemen keep large cows to get extra size in calves. But according to Dr. J.W.G. Nicolson of the Fredericton Agricultural Research Station, N.B., the larger cow costs more to keep.

For each 100 pounds of extra weight, a cow eats another 550 pounds of average quality hay or equivalent feed per year. This must weigh 20 pounds more.

According to Dr. Nicholson, a cow that weighs 1400 pounds must wean a calf weighing 80 pounds more than one from a 1000 pound cow.

These costs are based on additional barn space and acreage required to support a larger cow. Experiments are now being conducted in Nova Scotia to test requirements and productivity of large versus small beef cows. Both groups will be cross-bred, with large cows a Brown Swiss x Shorthorn cross, and small cows a Jersey x Shorthorn cross.

Preliminary results on other groups of each show the large cows (Brown Swiss cross) weighed an average 977 pounds after first calving at 2 years.

The Jersey cross cows weighed an average 832 pounds at the same age.

Weaning weights of bull calves from the large cows averaged 494 pounds, and 455 pounds from the small cows.

Results from the new tests should prove interesting to Ontario beef producers, as the demand for red meats by the consumer continues to grow.

V-G profits show increase

The quarterly dividend of 25¢ declared on the common shares is payable September 15, 1971 to those on record August 27, 1971.

Weekly Meditation

CONTRIBUTED BY STIRLING CLERGYMEN

(by Rev. Charles Staples)

St. John's Anglican Church

Summer ends quickly. As soon as September comes, the evenings get cool. Catholics return home. Preparations are made for children to return to school. Our long summer is gone for another year.

Now we begin to look ahead. But what is there ahead for you? Is there anything that you can do that will make a difference to anyone? Perhaps you haven't ever thought about it in that way. For most people the answer would be, No. However, life is not a matter of responding only to the things of the moment. Life is living a quality of existence where the depth of human relations grow out of doing things for one another. Life should have a depth of quality where people are seen as possessing a potential, where a person is considered as having the possibility of becoming a better person, a different person, yes, even a greater person, if given the encouragement. Such a person may be a child, a son or daughter, a husband or wife, or even a friend and acquaintance.

If we discard the belief that what a person does has no consequence either for good or for evil, we would be turning human behaviour into animal behaviour. Not many would do that deliberately. But how many are prepared to take the positive step toward enlivening life with one another? How many are prepared to show a little concern and love for the other person?

Let's test the idea out. Think back over the last 24 hours. What have you done to help another person? What positive word of encouragement have you spoken? Have you in anyway come out of your way to offer help to someone?

The measure of life is not length of days we live, nor the amount of money we earn, but the kind of persons we are. The way we live with one another and toward one another is the measure of our character, not how many beers we can drink, nor how much better my house is.

In those days when freedom and independence seem to be paramount virtues, let's not be fooled into believing that man's fate and future can be solved by experts. By giving over responsibility for the kind of persons we should be, into the hands of politicians, doctors, scientists, engineers, teachers, ministers or other specialists.

Man's freedom is to be found in Christ - the one who proclaims liberty to the prisoners, and recovery of sight to the blind, who sets free the oppressed. And this action of Christ is to be found in people today. It is to be found anywhere. But what people? Is the liberating spirit of Christ working in you and through you to the other person? To do the will of Christ is to do the work of Christ. To do the work of Christ is to enable your fellow man to be liberated from the prisons which he himself so often makes for himself.

Community club meets

A meeting of the Stirling Community Club was held on Aug. 4 at the farm of Ted Pollock.

The meeting was opened with the 44 pledges led by the president, Linn Thain. The secretary noted the attendance and read the minutes.

At this time a ball game commenced in which team 2 was victorious.

After this, the clipping of a calf was discussed and demonstrated by Linn Thain and Keith McConnell as the group will have to clip their calf in readiness for the forthcoming Stirling Fair.

The club also discussed points for lending and showmanship. Lunch was served.

The final meeting of the Stirling Community Club will be held on Aug. 25 at the farm of Malcolm Sharpe.

Scott Young

I was looking ahead in a calendar the other day and when I came to the date Sept. 3, suddenly I had one of those flashes of total recall.

Instead of being in my fifties, I was 21 - sleeping in a basement apartment in the centre of Winnipeg and hearing a loud shout on the street outside, "EXTRA! EXTRA!"

I pushed up the window and yelled at a pair of ankles going by, "What's it about?" But the paper boy was being so mobbed that I had to grab my pants and go outside and buy a paper to find out.

Like most Canadians, I'd gone to bed on Sept. 2, 1939, knowing the Germans were in Poland but not sure what that meant to us. This extra told me a little before dawn, our time, Britain and France had declared war on Germany in support of Poland. I worked on the Winnipeg Free Press then, and I ran the two blocks to the office to read all about it, hot off the teletype.

In Ottawa, Prime Minister Mackenzie King had called a cabinet meeting for 8 a.m. A crowd awaited him at Parliament Hill, calling "Are we at war?" He only smiled faintly and tipped his hat. (What would Trudeau do, I wonder, maybe the same.) We learned later that Mackenzie King faced his cabinet and said: "For all practical purposes we are at war. But technically we are neutral until Parliament decides." He had promised in 1936 he never would lead the country into war without Parliament's approval.

The cabinet meeting ended at noon. By mid-afternoon, armories in Canadian cities were being stormed by men wanting to join up. Some didn't know who Hitler was. Some had been out of work for years. Still others limited their declarations of intent to wondering if the Mademoiselle was still to be found, as of old, in Armenia.

At 7 p.m. the Prime Minister told the nation by radio ("Whistled a message to the nation," as one observer of the time put it) of events thus far; Labor Minister Norman Rogers said hoarding would not be tolerated; and Justice Minister Ernest Lapointe spoke briefly in French. Outside newspaper offices crowds gathered and some broke into prophetic song: "It's a long, long trail a-winding."

At about the same time, a ship called the Athenia, standing out from Britain into the North Atlantic, was hit by a torpedo and sank. To many outraged Canadians, that was the instant the war began.

All that week, the English-speaking papers said things like: We must stand shoulder-to-shoulder with the Motherland. And some French-speaking papers said: Stay out. Expert stories on new weapons spoke with awe of bombers that zipped along at 200 miles an hour.

On Sept. 8, the Prime Minister delivered a speech in the Commons that began in the afternoon, continued in the evening, and at one stage included 14 stanzas of a poem (Mackenzie King was great on recitations). J. S. Woodsworth, leader of the CCF, said he'd be proud of a son who refused to fight than he would of a son who enlisted; but M. J. Coldwell said the CCF would support the government.

At 3 p.m. on Saturday, Sept. 9, the Prime Minister said that if the House adopted his address in reply to the speech from the Throne, it would be taken as approving a Canadian declaration of war.

At 10:23 that vote was taken and the course set. The Prime Minister still had a few matters of protocol up his sleeve, however.

He called the King and asked him to declare war on Canada's behalf, then sat at the phone all day Sunday waiting for a reply. At dawn Monday the call came: The King had issued the declaration of war on Canada's behalf Sept. 10.

It took a whole week to do it. We didn't rush in pell-mell. But from that decision came nearly six years that shaped the lives of every Canadian of my generation. Some mornings even now I look out into a lovely day and think how lucky we are - those who survived.

Council Rejects Morton Project

School enrolment up slightly

The student enrolment for the Stirling-Marsh Hill Public School Unit has risen slightly from last year.

George Patton, Principal, said that the total enrolment for the two Stirling schools and the one at Marsh Hill is 842. Last year's total was 837.

The school unit had 52 new student admissions this year. The breakdown of each school's enrolment is as follows: Stirling Senior School, 518; Stirling Junior School, 229; and Marsh Hill, 95.

Three teachers and one additional secretary have joined the staff. Miss Penny Ludlow will be teaching home economics; Andrew Faulkner, senior geography and Mrs. Barbara Lassard will serve as additional secretary on the office staff. The total staff at the three schools is 37.

There will be a further enrolment of 25 to 30 children in kindergarten at the beginning of January, 1972 and an additional 25 children on April 1, 1972. By the end of this school year in June, 1972 the total enrolment will have risen to approximately 900.

Dump deadline now Oct. 31

The village of Stirling has received a certificate of approval for the municipal dump to be kept in use until Oct. 31.

By that time, the village hopes to be able to transport its refuse to a proposed new site east of Frankford, on the Foxboro Road.

Several weeks ago, council ordered a gate placed on the dump entrance and has been strictly controlling its operation.

An inspector who recently visited the Stirling site was impressed by the good condition in which he found it, council was told.

However, the dump has been ordered closed, as soon as an alternative site can be found.

Mistfortune

Mrs. Glenn Bush, R.R. 4, Stirling, had the misfortune to fall and break her left wrist on Thursday night.

Her husband has been wearing a cast on his right leg since fracturing it when a wagon load of hay upset a month ago.

Apartment complex raises citizens' ire

Stirling village council has reversed its stand on the proposed re-zoning of property on the north side of St. James St. where William Morton wants to erect an apartment building.

At a meeting last Wednesday night, council agreed to rescind an earlier bylaw which asked for a re-zoning to permit construction of multiple housing on the Morton property.

The action was taken at the recommendation of the local planning board and in view of protests received from owners of neighboring property.

Letters received from 10 owners of adjacent property were read to council. All were strongly opposed to the apartment project.

At last week's meeting, it was not clear whether or not Mr. Morton's application would still be heard by the Ontario Municipal Board. It was the general feeling of council that no hearing would be necessary in view of the stand taken by the planning board and the village council.

Clerk W. L. Pollock explained that the matter should have been referred to the planning board before the earlier bylaw was passed, authorizing an amendment to the zoning bylaw, submitted to OMB approval. However, he said, there was no reason why the earlier bylaw could not be repealed.

Councillor Maurice Montgomery said he voted for the bylaw to change the zoning, with the idea that the people in the immediate area would have an opportunity to object if they wanted to. It would then be a matter for the OMB to decide. Now that they have voiced strong objection, and the planning board has rejected the proposal, council should follow this advice, he said.

Objections submitted by owners of property in the area included the following:

1. Loss of privacy.
2. Profiteering at the expense of neighboring residents.
3. Extra traffic.
4. Lack of sufficient space for an apartment block.
5. Decreasing of value of adjacent properties.
6. Over taxing of water and sewage facilities.

One resident claimed the proposed development would be a detriment to the area because "apartment dwellers come and go and have no particular interest in the upkeep of the area."

Councillor Fred Brandt, the only member of council who came out in favor of the project at the meeting, said he felt this was the proper location for an apartment building in view of the fact a large school complex would be built across the road from it. He agreed, however, that some of the protesters appeared to have valid objections.

"We must remember that we represent ALL the people," said Councillor Edward Klompaker, "The people don't want it and I think we have to listen to them."

Councillor Klompaker noted that there were no objections to be considered when the application first was submitted to council, and on that basis the original bylaw was passed. Since then, however, he said he is "not sure that this is the right spot."

Councillor Douglas Bensley said he felt many of the objections were valid, and he was prepared to accept the recommendation of the planning board.

Council also accepted the recommendation of the planning board and will proceed to rezone the old mill property and a property on Wright St. Both of these re-zoning applications were opposed by the Stirling Chamber of Commerce.

Pee Wees Ontario softball champions

Spring Brook Pee-Wees were named the Ontario Pee-Wee A champions on Saturday afternoon when they downed Glen Williams 8 to 5 in the third and deciding game.

Glen Williams came back with a 6 to 1 victory in the second game.

Wayne Andrews started Spring Brook off in the first inning with a run. Cliff Reid and Mark Dobson added runs in the third inning to tie the score at three all.

Craig Morton scored runs in the first and second innings to increase Spring Brook's lead. Dale Ray and Chris Doyle also added runs in the fifth inning. Spring Brook's last run came in the sixth with Mark Dobson scoring.

Glen Williams, a team from the Brampton area scored two runs in the first inning, one in the third, and two in the seventh. Other hits for Spring Brook were received by Randy Trumble, John Bush and Craig Morton.

Cliff Reid, pitcher for the Spring Brook team, had strike outs and walked 12 players. The Spring Brook Pee-Wees, a team composed of players from Stirling, Spring Brook, and Marmora is coached by Ted Dobson and El Killian.

Trophies will be given to the area's Ontario Pee-Wee Champions at a banquet to be held later this fall at Niagara.

New voting now in effect

The average age of Stirling council members probably is lower than in most municipalities. And the prospects are that it could go even lower.

At Wednesday night's meeting of council, a letter was read from the Department of Municipal Affairs, advising local officials that the age limit for candidates for council or board of education in future elections will be 18 rather than 21.

This comes into effect in view of the fact the Ontario Legislature recently lowered the age of majority from 21 to 18.

Voters lists also will contain the names of all persons aged 18 and over.

Meeting tonight

Officials of the Department of Municipal Affairs will be in Stirling Thursday evening to discuss comments concerning the village's official plan.

Members of council and the planning board have been invited to be present for the 7:30 meeting

INDUCTION SERVICE AT ST. PAUL'S

Rev. and Mrs. John A. May are seen with Rev. Nathan Bowring, chairman of the Belleville Presbytery of the United Church of Canada, following the induction of Mr. May as minister of St. Paul's United Church, Stirling, last Thursday evening. Mr. May succeeds Rev. J. Bruce Small who recently accepted a call to Chatham.

Rev. John A. May new minister at St. Paul's

Rev. John A. May officially became the minister of St. Paul's United Church, Stirling, following an induction service last Thursday evening.

Mr. May succeeds Rev. J. Bruce Small who recently moved to Chatham to pastor Park St. United Church.

The induction service was presided over by Rev. Nathan Bowring, Bloomfield, chairman of the Belleville Presbytery, who also conducted the induction ceremony itself.

Guest speaker for the occasion was Rev. James W. Cullen, of the Prince Edward North pastoral charge. Topic of his sermon was The Marks of the True Church.

Mr. Cullen's definition of the True Church was "one which shows to the world the love of God."

"A church is not buildings and budgets but people," he asserted. "It involves teamwork between the minister and the congregation."

Minister, he said, can set for himself a low standard and become lazy or too high a standard and become discouraged. Consequently, he must be able to seek a balance between the two extremes.

He needs to have compassion, patience and understanding, and be able to take a stand for what he believes to be right.

Mr. Cullen urged the members of St. Paul's "to think of yourselves as part of a team in Christ's work," and to "work as a team to show this community the love of God."

During the well-attended service, the congregation sang Unto the Hills, Breathe on Me, Breath of God, and Forth in Thy Name, O Lord, I Go. The choir sang the anthem, God Is The Spirit.

Mr. May received his education to Grade 10 at Capreol, Ont., after which, from 1953 to 1958, he operated his own business. He then enrolled at Albert College where he finished his high school education and in 1960, he attended Waterloo Lutheran University where he attained his Bachelor of Arts degree.

From there, he entered Emmanuel College, Victoria University, Toronto, where he received his B. D. He assisted in numerous churches while going to university until in 1969 when he accepted a call to All People's, Naughton Pastoral Charge (4 churches).

Mr. May and his wife, the former Phyllis O'Neill of Odessa, have three children, Mary Catherine, Andrew and Carole.

Following the service in the sanctuary, an informal welcome party for the Mays was held in the Sunday School auditorium, where light refreshments were served.

Greetings were extended by Rev. J. F. McGarvey, pastor of St. James The Minor Roman Catholic Church; Rev. Charles Staples, rector of St. John's Anglican Church; Rev. Edward MacDonald, pastor of Good Tidings Pentecostal Church; and Harold Hagerman, clerk of the session of St. Paul's.

Both Mr. and Mrs. May replied,

F. Broekema confirmed as bylaws officer

Village foreman Frank Broekema, who has been doubling as bylaws enforcement officer, has agreed to continue his duties as bylaws officer.

During August, Mr. Broekema spent 68 hours on duty as a bylaws officer, in addition to his regular daytime work. He drove 72 miles on village business during these hours.

Village council on Wednesday night agreed to pay Mr. Broekema at the rate of time and a half for hours spent on officer duty. He will also receive a car allowance of $10 per month.

Mr. Broekema told council he has received excellent co-operation from the Ontario Provincial Police.

Work resumes on OHC project

The Peterborough firm, Jack Law, which was awarded the contract for the construction of 12 senior citizens apartment units on Church St., promised to resume work on the project immediately after Labor Day.

This was revealed at Wednesday night's meeting of Stirling village council by Reeve Robert Anderson.

He told council he was speaking to Mr. Law the week before last, and the builder assured the municipality that work would be at once. Mr. Law told the council he had received his contract from the Ontario Housing Corporation, to do the work, only that day.

Meanwhile, the OHC has called for tenders for the erection of an additional 12 units on the same site. This work is not expected to get under way until next year.

Councillor Fred Brandt said he would like to see the additional 12 units erected on another site, closer to downtown.

A third possibility to fill the gap left by the loss of the U.S. market was suggested by Mr. Svoboda. He said that his company had requested federal trade commissioners to investigate the possibility of a market in Europe.

"These commissioners could give us the answers to such questions as what shoe line is selling in France and where do we fit in," he said.

Elaine not eligible for federal aid

The proposed federal government program, designed to assist small businesses in the United States, is not eligible for Elaine Footwear (Stirling) Ltd.

The program only applies to those industries which export 20% of their total production to the United States. Elaine Footwear exports approximately 10% of its shoes a year to the U.S., but this comprises only 7 to 8 per cent of its total production.

John Svoboda, President of Elaine Footwear, said that his company is negotiating a new contract in the U.S. and is trying to find new markets in Canada and Europe.

"We have not reduced our staff," said Mr. Svoboda, "because of the loss of the U.S. market but we have cut back to a four day work week."

Mr. Svoboda went on to say that his company is trying to develop a line of shoes that will be in competition with foreign imports. "I am quite confident that one of our shoes will sell to Canadian buyers in lieu of foreign imports," he said.

Stirling fair draws 1,500

Citizens of Stirling and the surrounding area flocked to the village Saturday afternoon for the 113th edition of the fall fair.

Uncertain weather conditions during the earlier part of the day may have been responsible for a slight decline in the paid attendance. The rain held off, however, much to the relief of the patrons, estimated to number at least 1,500.

Nancy St. sewer is discussed

The case of the Nancy St. sewer which runs on private property was the subject of a discussion by village council Wednesday night. Reeve Robert Anderson explained that the sewer serving 17 wartime houses along the street originally was built to drain into a septic tank. When sewers were installed in later years, this line was hooked directly into the system.

Some time ago, the village engaged a legal firm to draw up a proposed easement agreement for the owners involved to sign, which would allow the municipality to do maintenance work on the sewer as required. Only six or seven owners signed, however. Although the matter is unresolved, council voted to pay the lawyer's account for his work on the easement agreement.

Hees visits nursing home

The residents of the Edward Street Manor were pleasantly surprised on Saturday when the Hon. George Hees, M.P. for Prince Edward-Hastings took time to visit with them. Mr. Hees talked with each resident, renewing old acquaintances and making new friends. For many of the residents from outside of Stirling, Mr. Hees brought news from their own home towns. Besides chatting with the residents of the Manor, Mr. Hees toured the building and was interested in the recreational facilities provided. He also visited the kitchen, the laundry area and the staff dining room.

Senior Citizens At Play

Twelve tables of progressive euchre were enjoyed at Senior Citizens on Thursday by a few and the rest of us just took bad deals and sat there and suffered. The winners were Margaret Fitchett, Ethel Duffin, George Heasman and Elwood Johnson. Those who suffered most were Fred Heasman, Ross Hoard and the old Scribe. John Holmes held the lucky cup.

It was the occasion of Edna Sharpe's birthday anniversary and her family presented a nice cake to her honor. Mrs. Pete (Margaret) Hare of Toronto was the guest of her mother, Amy Schrum, and was welcomed by the President.

A well loaded chuck wagon was steered at us by Mina Smith, Helen Reid, Freda Broadworth and Murn Stapley. Someone told Murn Stapley that if he ate any more cookies he'd burst and Murn replied "all right, just pass the cookies and get out of the way."

The Vicar's wife had just died, and wishing to be relieved of his duties for the weekend, he sent the following message to his bishop: "I regret to inform you that my wife has just died and should be obliged if you could send me a substitute for the weekend."

CLERK WILL MAIL NOTICES

The mailing of assessment notices has been made the responsibility of municipal clerks, village council learned Wednesday night.

Clerk W. L. Pollock said the Regional Assessment Office had offered to mail the notices, as a convenience to the municipality, but he felt it would be better for the village to carry out the work. Mr. Pollock said he thought he could "catch a lot of mistakes" if the notices went through his hands before mailing. The provincial assessment office will pay for the postage, however, he told council.

HOME RUN HITTER

Reed Morton sparked the Stirling Bantams last Wednesday night when he hit a home run scoring Stan Myers in this first game of the OASA Bantam B semi-finals. The team was defeated 9 to 3.

A Maligned Group

At a period in time when much stress is laid on equality among human beings, one sector of society continues to be thought of as second class citizens. We refer to that large body of people who, through choice or for economic reasons, rent rather than own their own housing accommodations.

One would have hoped that in these enlightened days, when so many people take this way of life, the stigma of being a tenant should have been a thing of the past. Unfortunately, this is not the case.

Much too frequently, we see or hear evidence that people affluent enough to be able to own their own dwellings look on tenants as almost sub-humans who have no right to the good life. The purveyors of this hogwash imply that tenants are noisy, uncivilized bores who have "no particular interest in the upkeep of the area" in which they live.

Such generalizations have no basis in fact. It is just as much a lie to say that tenants are an unworthy group as it is to state that owning a home automatically makes one a good citizen. We are not suggesting that there are no bad tenants. Obviously there are, just as there are a few gouging landlords and the occasional home owner who lets his property go to seed.

The point is that we object to tenants as a group, being thought of as undesirable. People who hold such views are snobs and bigots.

"Lord, will there be only a few saved?" (Lk 13:23)

Section 9:15 to 10:28 of St. Luke's Gospel begins, "Now as the time drew near for him to be taken up to heaven, he resolutely took the road to Jerusalem." Luke tells us of this one journey to Jerusalem, John's Gospel narrates three visits of Jesus to Jerusalem.

In Luke's Gospel the journey is a structural form within which Luke gathers together many disparate teachings of Jesus. On this journey someone asked, "Lord, will there be only a few saved?" Jesus answered, "Try your best to enter by the narrow door, because I tell you, many will try to enter and will not succeed." Jesus really did not answer the question, rather he gave a practical directive, namely, to bend all their efforts to reach eternal life, i.e. strive to enter by the narrow door. Possibly he is saying that knowledge of the numbers belongs to the Father and that it is not for Christ to say how many will be saved. However, the difficulties involved in being saved is indicated by the image of the 'narrow door'.

"The last will be first and the first will be last" (Ch. 13:30). The Jews considered the pagans to be 'last' in reference to themselves who were the 'first' because they were the people chosen by God. Christ warns them that the pagans who believe and accept the Gospel will be preferred by God to the Jews who do not believe.

Just as the Jews were not saved automatically because they were the chosen race so also we Christians are not saved just because we have received special privileges from God. We are not saved just because we belong to this or that denomination. We are saved by our personal commitment to Christ, lived out in our lives, not as individuals but as members of the Christian Community.

The second half of verse 24 introduces a slightly different idea. Many, Jesus tells us, will try to enter into the Kingdom of Heaven but will not succeed. Not everyone is going to make it. In fact many will not. Luke clarifies what he means by this, namely, that many men just do not avail themselves of the opportunities of salvation while it is offered to them, and then they begin to have second thoughts about the matter but it is too late and the opportunity does not return.

Verse 25 introduces the idea of a 'closed door'. The former idea (narrow door) indicated the difficulties of entering, while the latter implies the impossibility of entering. The image is that of a banquet which is a symbol of eternal life, often used in the O.T. and the N.T. The Master of the house (Christ) has already closed the door and is enjoying the feast with the chosen ones. Those on the outside cry out to him to open the door, but he replies, "I do not know where you come from". For these it is simply too late. They have missed their chance and are totally rejected.

Who are those people standing outside knocking? In Matt 25:10-12 they are unworthy Christians. Here in Luke they are the Jewish contemporaries of Jesus who, even though they saw his works and heard his words, refuse to believe in him. When the moment of truth comes it will not avail them to claim that they ate and drank with the Saviour while he was on earth. It is not external companionship with Jesus that determines their fate but that inner belief in him that leads to a conversion of the heart and an honest following of his example. The judgment of Jesus on them is truly terrifying and should give us a pause for thought. "I tell you, I do not know where you come from; depart from me, all workers of iniquity".

Jesus really does not answer the question as to how many will be saved. But Luke has gathered together for us a number of sayings of Jesus that give us a solemn warning. Just because God has favored us with baptism, the Eucharist, the other sacraments, with the assistance given by the Church, etc., this does not give us any reason to be presumptuous. We must still, as St. Paul warns us, work out our salvation in fear and trembling" (Phil 2:12). We must strive to enter by the 'narrow door'.

Scott Young

I don't know how widespread a custom the fall fair is — except that when I was a boy on the prairies all fairs were in the summer, between haying and harvest.

One thing I do know now is that whether we're talking about fairs in Brandon, Ottawa, Vancouver, Toronto, Williams Lake, or points between — the openings are always too darn dull.

They had a heck of a good chance this year at the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto, but they blew it. The governor-general was on hand to officiate, and he jogs a mile or so every morning. When he turned up at the CNE track in his jogging outfit, he could have opened the fair right then. But he went a few laps, then went home, shaved, got all dolled up, and went and made another standard opening-day speech.

I didn't hear it, but usually opening-day fair speeches urge Canadians to exercise eternal vigilance to maintain their freedom and security. During that kind of speech it is usually necessary to maintain eternal vigilance just to keep from falling asleep. But I mean no disrespect to the gov-gen. He is trapped by the system.

One time about 40 years ago at the CNE there was an opening that had some life in it. A potentate from India had been invited to officiate. In those depression days, when potatoes were 30 cents a bushel and the free corn flakes were from the Exhibition were all the food some hungry families had all summer, the Indian potentate naturally urged Canadians to exercise eternal vigilance to maintain their way of life. Nobody stole him, but it still came with a flair.

The plan was that when he was finished his speech, the first Boy Scout in a long line of Boy Scouts was to salute; then the Scout next to him and so on down the line. When the last Boy Scout saluted, a man standing by the firecrackers was instructed to light them and run like h-dash-dash!

What happened was that as the Indian potentate began his speech, the first Boy Scout raised his arm to scratch his nose. The salute went down the line in great style. The man lit the firecrackers. The Indian potentate's speech, punctuated by terrific explosions and with sky-rockets picking up silk hats on route, was the most popular speech ever delivered at the CNE on opening day.

The lesson should have been clear: that in opening a fair, the action should suit the basically happy, carefree and exciting nature of the fair itself.

I believe the big breakthrough at the CNE should have been made the very next year after the Indian potentate's grand experience. Legions of unemployed could have chased Prime Minister R. B. Bennett down the track, along the midway, and into a girls' show.

In 1949, George Drew could have brought a North Star aircraft in to a dead-stick landing on the CNE stage.

In the early fifties, when Allan Lamport had just achieved Toronto's pace-setting acceptance of Sunday sport, Lamport could have been shown at the Pearly Gates, explaining himself.

All of these were national affairs — even Sunday sport in Toronto, since it set a trend that is still spreading.

In more recent years, John Diefenbaker could have been sort of a perennial star of many fairs. In 1957, as a knight in shining armor, he could have been shown fighting a horrendous but inconclusive battle against a herd of dragons.

In 1958, the dragons would have appeared at the east gate going like the wind down the track and out of the west gate, with Dief in hot pursuit and then returning to the front of the grandstand to show his muscles.

In 1963, he could have been shown carried into the grounds in a sedan chair — whose bearers suddenly dropped their hand-grips and made off severely, some straight up into the air, some doing loop-the-loops, and some diving into holes in the ground. I haven't thought up an opening for Pierre Trudeau yet. When I do, I will let you know.

Wilson - Cotten

Bouquets of pink and white gladioli and white shasta daisies adorned St. Mark's Anglican Church at Bonarlaw recently, when Joan Carol Cotten, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elnor Cotten, R.R. 5, Stirling, became the bride of James Austin Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wilson, R.R. 1, Belleville.

Rev. John Lombard officiated at the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Harry Neal rendered traditional wedding music and accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Wayne Reid.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an Elizabethan styled gown of pure silk organza over taffeta featuring a wedding ring collar and apron, front bordered with a trim of Guipure Lace. The long full sheer organza sleeves with wide cuffs were trimmed in matching Guipure Lace. The long full skirt fell softly into a Watteau train. Her silk illusion finger tip triple veil, held by a headpiece of pure silk chiffon flowers, was trimmed with miniature white pearls. She carried a small bouquet of pink sweetheart roses and white carnations.

The maid of honor, Miss Joyce Cotten, twin sister of the bride and the bridesmaids, Mrs. Harley Blackburn, sister of the bride and Mrs. Douglas Kane were dressed alike. They wore floor length gowns of Capri blue pure silk chiffon over taffeta. They were styled with a tight fitting bodice, high stand up frill collar and long sheer sleeves trimmed with a cuff of Swiss embroidered insertion lace with Capri velvet ribbon. The full flowing skirts were trimmed with a large frill of sheer chiffon. They carried cascade bouquets of pink and white mums.

Douglas Kane attended the bridegroom and the ushers were Dennis Heasman and Ross Cotten, brother of the bride.

A reception was held in the church parlors where the bride's mother greeted the guests wearing a dress of azure blue polyester crepe with matching jacket, white accessories and a corsage of pink and white carnations.

The bridegroom's mother assisted wearing a floral printed silk dress with matching sheer coat, white and mauve accessories and a corsage of mauve and white carnations.

For the wedding trip the bride chose a honeysuckle print suit of crimpelene with waffle knit top and a corsage of tulle roses. The young couple will reside in Belleville.

Prior to her marriage the bride was honored at a bridesmaid's shower given by Mrs. St. John Seeley and daughters Carol and Catherine. Wellman's of St. John's was also entertained at a miscellaneous shower held at the home of Mrs. Douglas Kane, R.R. 4, Stirling. She was presented with a gift of pinwheel crystal by the staff of Dufferin School, Trenton and gifts from the pupils in her Grade Three class.

A wedding rehearsal party given by Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wilson was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Heasman, R.R. 4, Stirling.

LEGION NOTES

The first full general meeting of Stirling Branch 228, Royal Canadian Legion, was held in the Legion Hall on Tuesday, Sept. 7. A pot-luck supper preceded the meeting, which was attended by some 36 members.

Branch #228 welcomed its second ex-service woman as a member in the person of Comrade, Mrs. Dorothy Taylor. Membership is now 121, a small time high. It was also indicated that several other local and district ex-service women were seriously considering becoming legion members. All veterans are invited to join - please contact Branch Membership Chairman Herb Wall at the local post-office.

Another highlight of the meeting was the installation of the Branch Co-Padres by Zone Commander Bert Bastide. Stirling Legion has two padres in the persons of Comrades Rev. J.F. McGarvey and Rev. Roy A. Taylor.

Members were advised of the forthcoming District Drumhead Service to be held in Brighton this Sunday, Sept. 12. Several members intend to go and anyone interested is asked to meet at Turner's Service Station this Sunday at 12:30 noon.

It was reported that Comrades Stan Kosmack, Charles Brenton and Stan Royle were patients in Belleville General Hospital. At last report all were doing well.

The Legion membership approved a motion to purchase and install two new column speakers in the hall. This will add greatly to the sound system and the enjoyment of all at the legion social functions.

Entertainment Chairman, Andy Brown, reported that plans were being completed for a special "Stew Dinner and Dance" to be held on Saturday evening, Sept.

18 commencing at 8 p.m. It is expected that some 80 members will turn out.

The meeting discussed the need for the possible establishment of a community group representing all local churches and service groups which would co-ordinate and administer a "Community Emergency Aid Program." The chief point being that one group representing all organizations could establish some form of committee to administer assistance to anyone in the community who faced an emergency or need. With all groups co-ordinating their efforts, it was felt that perhaps more good could be achieved at less effort and to more effective ends. The matter was turned over to the Branch Poppy Committee and Service Officer for further consideration. The central idea of the discussion was that regardless of race, color creed or other affiliation, we belong to one community and when emergency need arises a central group representing all community organizations would best ensure that such needs were met in the most effective manner. The Poppy Committee will report to the next Executive meeting on this matter.

Members were impressed and pleased with the recent work done to refurbish and refinish the terrace floor in the Legion Hall. This much needed improvement is a real credit to a few dedicated tireless workers.

The Branch Executive will meet on Tuesday, Sept. 21 at 8:30 p.m. One of the chief topics of discussion will be the planning of the Remembrance Day observance and the Silver Cross Mothers Tea. A Branch bulletin will go out to all members within the week outlining further branch news.

Announces help for elderly persons

Eligible persons have begun receiving the 1971 benefits under the Ontario Government's Supplementary Tax Assistance for the elderly, Dalton Bales, Municipal Affairs Minister, said today.

Mr. Bales explained that cheques are being mailed out over the next four weeks to nearly 300,000 elderly persons. Benefits total $18 million.

The plan is designed to provide a maximum of $100 per household. Assistance goes to recipients of the federal Guaranteed Income Supplement.

Mr. Bales noted that married couples when both parties receive the G.I.S. will automatically receive the $100 maximum benefits, (i.e. $50 each) available under the Ontario plan.

"Single" residents will receive an immediate $50 payment and an opportunity to apply for up to $50 additional benefits. Application forms accompany the initial cheques.

Roomers are also eligible for Supplementary Tax Assistance for the Elderly, and will receive $50 in benefits. Roomers are identified as persons living in a rented room or with friends and relatives.

The program was launched a year ago to alleviate property tax and living cost pressures confronting elderly people in Ontario.

Mr. Bales noted that the program represents an immediate measure to provide assistance where it is "urgently" needed. He portrayed it as an interim step in the Province's long-term process of taxation reform.

Supplementary Tax Assistance for the Elderly is one of three major initiatives of the Government to help reduce the impact of property taxes and rising living costs for various sectors of the population. The others are the Farm Tax Reduction Program and the Residential Property Tax Reduction Plan.

Holstein show at Peterborough

ANATOMY OF A FAIR

A fair wouldn't be a fair without a number of refreshment booths to feed hungry patrons. Candy apples, soft drinks, hot dogs, hamburgers, french fries and, of course, fresh taffy, were at Stirling fair Saturday in ample supply. The booths appeared to be doing a roaring business. News-Argus Photo.

The strongest Holstein show in many years greeted Judge Jack Gillespie of Galt, at Peterborough Exhibition as 24 exhibitors brought out a total of 99 head in the Holstein classes.

There was very close contest for the Premier Exhibitor honors, with Glen Isle Farms, Keene, edging out Almeron Farms, Campbellford, by just one point. These standings were reversed for Premier Breeder with Almeron Farms taking the award and Glen Isle Farms the runner-up.

Last year's All-Canadian two-year-old, Surodina Marquis Lorraine won the three-year-old class and went through to the Senior and Grand Championships. She is owned by Donald Budd, Fort Hope, and William F. Moore, Cobourg. The Reserve Senior and Reserve Grand Championships went to Earle R. Nelson, Campbellford, on the winning aged cow, Nidervet Marquise Belfaire. Judge Gillespie described the Grand Champion as a large, powerful individual with a strong, upright udder. Nelson's Reserve Grand Champion is well balanced, wide in the rear udder and with particularly strong fore attachments. Honorable mention for the Reserve Senior Championship went to the winning four-year-old, Almeron Marquis Echo shown by Almeron Farms. It is noteworthy that all three of these animals are daughters of Romandale Reflection Margalis. Stewart Nelson, Keene, showed the winning two-year-old, while Glen Isle Farms had the Junior Champion female in Glen Isle Berle Rockman who headed the senior yearling heifers. Second to her in class and following through to the Reserve Junior Championship was Almeron Rockman Echo, owned by Almeron Farms, Norwood, with the Reserve Junior Champions were daughters of the Class Extra Sire, Selling Rockman.

Ronald Warner, Hastings, had the winning junior heifer calf and Earl Doris, Peterborough, the first prize senior heifer calf, while the winning Brooder's Head was shown by Almeron Farms. Held in conjunction with the open show was the Peterborough County Black and White day, which was closed to residents of Peterborough County, and attracted 51 head shown by nine exhibitors. The Black and White Day Grand Champion was the first prize four-year-old, Ronberta Telstar Bertha shown by Ronald Warner of Hastings, with the Reserve Grand Championship award going to Stewart Nelson on his winning two-year-old Keendale Lodge Star Joyce. The open show Junior Champion, Glen Isle Berle Rockman was also the County Junior Champion with the Reserve Junior award going to Stewart Nelson on the yearling heifer Keendale Lodge Jasmine Star.

Only junior bulls were shown, both in the open and County classes. The Grand Champion bull in the open show was the winning senior yearling, Merlecrest Lucky Boy owned by David Merritt, Warkworth, with the Reserve Championship going to the second prize yearling, Surodina Citation Dan, exhibited by Donald Budd, Fort Hope.

Ratepayer seeks tile

Don Tucker appeared before village council Wednesday night with a request for a 10-foot tile to be placed in a ditch leading from the street line through his property.

Mr. Tucker explained that the tile would allow him to widen his driveway, for easier access for his buses. He pointed out that this ditch which runs across his property occupies the runoff from two village tiles. The proposed tile extension would be partly private land.

The streets committee was authorized to visit the site, and on the request.

Bert Jones was reeve of Stirling in 1964.

On Wednesday, Sept. 1, 1971, nearly seven years after leaving the post, his photograph was placed in the council chamber, along with those of other former Reeves of the village.

Mr. Jones attended council in person to present the portrait to the current reeve, Robert Anderson.

Among the Books At Stirling Public Library

Some of the new titles on the shelves at the Stirling Public Library are "General Mud" by Lt. Col. E.L.M. Burns, memoirs of two World Wars; "I've got to be Me" by Derek Sanderson, the articulate young N.H.L. hockey player, and "The Car Owner's Handbook" by Ray Stapley, a comprehensive, common-sense handbook written in easy-to-understand terms, and with a touch of humour and sympathy. From the best-seller list is "St. Urbain's Horseman" by Mordecai Richler, large, real, on trial; QB VII by Leon Uris, the story of a libel trial rooted in the issue of man's responsibility to his fellow human; and "The Underground Man" by Fyodor Dostoevsky, a story of detective Lord Archer, full of suspense and peripeteia.

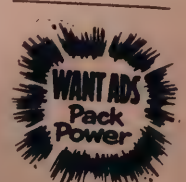

For the younger readers is "Mustang" by Marguerite Henry, an exciting story of the wild mustangs and the girl who, almost single-handed, saved them from extinction. "The House of Dies Drear" by Virginia Hamilton, is a tale of mystery and danger, and "Cool Cat" by Frank Bonham is an up-to-the minute story for today's young people, telling of the youth culture in a big-city jungle.

All ready for Halloween is "The Resident Witch" by Marian T. Place, about Wicthecena, a witch who is willing to adapt herself to the times, and for the picture book set another story of "Dorrie and the Haunted House" by Patricia Coombs. Another old friend makes his appearance in "Curious George Flies a Kite" by Margaret Rey, for beginning readers; and a book to linger over is "The Dirt Road" by Carol and Donald Carriek.

Back-to-school time is here, and your librarians are ready to help find the right books for your assignments, or send for them under the Inter-Library Loan system - so be sure to ask in good time, and of course, return books promptly so that others may use them. Students from the rural areas are reminded, too, that they should renew their library cards so that they may have the benefit of all these facilities.

There will be news of more books soon, until then, - Happy Reading!

McInroy - Warren

A very pretty wedding took place in St. Paul's United Church on Saturday, August 28, when Marian Elizabeth, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Edwin Warren was united in marriage to Eric Ward McInroy, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Ward McInroy of Bonarlaw, Ontario. Rev. J. Bruce Small officiated while William McArthur, at the organ, provided appropriate selections and accompanied Miss Ann Watson.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a full length two piece ensemble of sheer white tulle. The pant dress was accented by embroidered lace edging at the empire waistline and small Mandarin collar. The full length coat was silk lined and featured intricate tucking from shoulder to waistline in the front extending to the elbow then puffed to the wrist and flounced. Small self-covered buttons and loops to the waist allowing the completely lace bordered coat to reveal the pantdress. Her head-dress was a semi circle of orange blossoms to which was attached the full cathedral train of single silk illusion. She carried an arm sheath bouquet of three large white chrysanthemums.

The maid of honor, Miss Anya Switke, wore a floor length gown of silk chiffon. The powder-blue bodice featured long puffed sleeves, scooped front neckline with small self-covered buttons at back of neck and cuffs. The printed chiffon skirts over tulle were in mauve, pink and powder blue shades. A sheath arm bouquet of mauve and white mums with like flowers interspersed in her hair complimented the gown.

The bridesmaids, identically attired, were Mrs. Mary Ellen Pyear (sister of the bride), Miss Joan McInroy, (sister of the groom), and Mrs. Lorraine Tester.

Miss Kelly Ryan, (niece of the bride) was given in marriage by her mother.

bride) was gown in floor length powder blue chiffon, the yoked bodice having a printed ruffle at the high neckline and printed covered buttons at the back yoke. A dainty nosegay of pink mauve and white cushion mums and like flowers in her upswept hair-dress made a demure picture.

Stevan MacMillan acted as groomsman and the ushers were Brian Brown, James Walton, Bruce Brown and James Tucker.

The reception was held in the church hall. The bride's mother received the guests wearing a bright burgundy crepe vest coat in fine pin-needle design. The burgundy dress of plain crepe was fashioned on princess lines with long puffed sheer sleeves, the small ring collar and banded crepe cuffs were sparked with bugle beads. The softly-draped turban was of matching sheer. Mink-tone accessories and a corsage of white feathered carnations completed her ensemble.

The groom's mother wore a blue crepe belted vest coat over a sheer dress with long puffed sleeves in tones of pink, mauve and blue, matching shoes and tiny blue bows in her hair. Her corsage was tiny roses in shades of pink.

For her travelling costume the bride chose old rose mauve jersey pant suit with black crinkle patent shoes and bag. Her corsage was pink and white miniature roses and carnations.

On their return from a short wedding trip through the Adirondacks, the couple will be living at 3 Crown Hill Place, Apt. 6, Toronto.

Prior to the wedding a couples party was held in Toronto by Waterloo University friends of the bride and groom.

The bride received a presentation from her office staff in Toronto.

A trousseau tea was given in honor of the bride by her mother.

A ROTARY STEAK-OUT AT STIRLING PARK

For their weekly dinner meeting last Tuesday, Stirling Rotarians took to the open spaces, cooking their meal outdoor barbecues at Stirling park. Lifting a well-browned steak from the grill is Elwood Bateman, president, Da-

Two families take trip to Europe

Two Stirling families returned home on the weekend after completing a "fantastic" trip which took them to Britain and six countries of Continental Europe. Mr. and Mrs. Donald R. Williams and their four children of Stirling, along with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Merrick and their three children, R.R. 2, Stirling, were away for three weeks.

One week was spent in England and 15 days in Continental Europe, including Belgium, West Germany, Austria, Italy, France and Switzerland.

Although they will never forget the sights they saw, Mr. Williams said the group was happy to be back in Canada where they now have a new appreciation for many of the things Canadians take for granted.

"I don't know how many times we said, 'What we wouldn't give now for a good glass of Stirling water,'" Mr. Williams recalled. In Europe, he said, water is scarce and even the water that is available may be contaminated. Restaurants only served water if patrons demanded it. The Stirling travellers found that other beverages could be indeed costly. The average cost of a bottle of Coke was 38 cents and they paid as much as 55 cents in one place. A cup of tea also cost about 38 cents. Wine could be purchased cheaper, said Mr. Williams.

During the 15-day tour of Europe, which took them 3,000 miles by bus, they found no great bargains to be snapped up. The cost of goods has increased considerably in the past five years, said Mr. Williams, and this is reflected in a much higher standard of living for the people.

What impressed the group most?

"It is the congestion that really hit you," said Mr. Williams. "The masses of people and vehicles." "You wouldn't believe the traffic jams in Rome and Paris," he said. "Toronto has no traffic, in comparison."

Back in Stirling, Mr. Williams said he appreciated the quietness of being able to sleep at night more than ever before.

Canadians just cannot appreciate the advantages they have until they see how much of the rest of the world lives.

Father and son Cub camp held

On the weekend of August 21st the First Stirling Cub Pack held a Father and Son Cub Camp. They were under the leadership of Wally Harding, Peter Seeley, Chuck Seeley and Don Marchand. The camp was held at Sagonaska Scout Area near Thomasburg. There was not a very good percentage who turned out but a good time was enjoyed by all who attended.

They set up camp at around 11:00 Saturday morning which turned out to be a good weekend except for a heavy rain which fell on Sunday afternoon when camp was breaking.

There were competitions throughout the weekend consisting of tug of war, three legged race, wheel barrel race, rope climb, leap frog, piggy back;

also games of touch football, soccer and baseball in which fathers played against sons and leaders.

Inspections were carried out on meals and campsites which judged the team of father and son who would win the trophy. This trophy was donated by Elaine Footwear. The winners of the trophy were Ken Frost and son Ken.

The second trophy, donated by Evergreen Cheese Ltd., to be given to the best cub of the weekend was judged by the cubs themselves and was given to Allan Dettlor.

The camp fire was held Saturday night with members of the cub families coming in. Also in attendance was Ernie Harvey, A.D.C. of Moira Valley.

Ontario election called for Oct. 21

Election activity in Hastings riding, currently represented by Progressive Conservative Charles Rollins, will start this Friday, when a social evening is planned at the Club Cedars in Thurlow. Mr. Rollins will be defending his seat against Liberal nominee Rev. Ian Munro, United Church minister from Tweed in the provincial election called Monday by Premier William Davis.

The election call by the seven-month premier, and former education minister, ended weeks of speculation, as the voters will decide October 21, whether to unseat the Tories after 28 years of rule or leave Robert Nixon, Liberal leader, and son of the last Liberal premier, Harry Nixon, and Stephen Lewis, son of national NDP leader David Lewis, to battle it out for the opposition leader's chair.

At dissolution, the PCs held 68 of the 117 seats in the Legislative Assembly, compared to 27 Liberals and 21 NDP members and one independent.

Nominations for all ridings close October 7, although most of the riding associations across the province, for at least the two older parties, have already named candidates. Enun-erations will begin September 22 with revisions of the voters' lists being made October 8, 12 and 13.

The newest feature of this election will be the eligibility of some 400,000 people between 18-21 to vote for the first time as the voting age was lowered to 18 earlier this year. It is estimated 4.4 million could be eligible to vote this time compared with 3.6 million in October 1967.

Voters to the south of Stirling will be casting votes for the PC incumbent Dr. R. T. Pottier, M.L.A. for Quinte and member without portfolio in the dissolved cabinet. His only opposition at the moment is former Trenton alderman and auto dealer, Gerald Weaver, representing the Liberals.

The Quinte PC campaign begins with a barbecue and dance at the Frankford fish and game farm tonight.

Nursery school now open

The Stirling Co-Operative Nursery School opened its doors on Tuesday morning, at St. Paul's United Church, with an enrolment of fifteen children from Stirling and vicinity, Marmora and Crookston. The children, aged three to five years, will attend the school each Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday morning from 9:00 to 11:30 a.m. A maximum of twenty children can be accommodated.

The school is under the direction of Mrs. Karen Bock, of Bonarlaw. Mrs. Bock is a graduate of the University of Long Island, New York State and has a B.S.C. in Education. Assisting Mrs. Bock each day will be a parent and a trained volunteer from Wingfield School on the Campbellford Road.

All the equipment and supplies have been purchased with parents' contributions or generously donated by parents and members of the community. There are still a number of things which the school could use: a record player (in any state of repair), children's records, a long mirror, old pots, pans and kitchen utensils, small storage cupboard, a wall clock, child's rocking chair and a First Aid kit. If anyone has any of these items and would be willing to donate them, please call Mrs. Margaret Kemp at 395-2543.

On Friday, September 17 the school will hold an Open House from 9:00 to 11:30 a.m. All interested persons in the community are invited to drop by and observe the children.

Planning board asked to remain

Stirling's seven-man planning board will continue to function until the end of 1971, as an advisory board to the Quinte Planning Board.

This was the decision of village council at a meeting held Wednesday night at the council chambers, the first regular meeting since July.

The village received notification that the Quinte regional board would assume all planning duties in the area, effective September 1. However, Reeve Robert Anderson explained that the Quinte board wanted all local municipalities to name their own advisory committees, to make recommendations on strictly local matters.

The Stirling board consists of Russell West, James Wright, Robert Hulin, Maurice Faulkner, Harry Cooke, Harold Baker and Reeve Anderson.

A good sow

A brood sow on the farm of Gordon Vardy, R.R. 4, Stirling, gave birth last March 29 to 17 piglets, of which 13 survived. On Sept. 9, she gave birth to 18 piglets, of which 14 are surviving.

The sow is an English Large Black Landrace bred to a Yorkshire Boar.

"She's really making a pig of herself," said Mr. Vardy.

Omission

In last week's paper, the name of Rev. Roy A. Taylor, minister of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, was omitted from the list of clergymen who were present to welcome Rev. John A. May, new minister of St. Paul's United Church, following an induction service on Sept. 2.

PRIME MINISTER VISITS RIDING

Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau received a souvenir book after signing the Belleville City Guest Book last Saturday. After formal greetings by Mayor Dr. J. R. Scott, the

P.M. mingled with the crowd, then answered queries on an hour radio show. He later toured Picton and Cornwall areas the same day before returning to Ottawa.

Couple celebrate 55th anniversary

On Saturday evening, September 11, Mr. and Mrs. Percy MacMullen entertained their family and a few friends at Mount Pleasant Church hall in honor of their 55th wedding anniversary.

Emerald ribbons, bows and tinted "mums" were used for decoration. The head table was centred with a decorated and numbered anniversary cake made by their daughter Eileen.

Their son, Ormel and his wife Jean, provided a matching corsage of "mums and a boutonniere for his parents.

The U.C.W. catered under the direction of the September group for a turkey anniversary dinner. Sid Demorest, Marmora, was master of ceremonies and Rev. W. C. Cox gave the invocation.

Following the cake ceremony, Miss Betty Demorest passed the wrapped pieces of cake.

Harvey Couch and son, Kenneth and Don Campbell provided several musical numbers throughout the program which included the harmonica, accordion and banjo.

Mrs. Marguerite McMullen sang two vocal selections, "I Love You Truly" and "O Perfect Love", with Mrs. Garth Joslin as accompanist. Mrs. W. C. Cox led the sing song of old favorites.

Mr. Demorest proposed the toast to the honored couple to which Eileen and Ormel replied and Eileen presented a scrapbook, "This is Your Life" which was a real surprise.

Mrs. MacMullen replied on behalf of herself and her husband and gave a short account of their wedding which was held on the lawn at Sunnyside Farm on Pump St., September 6, 1916.

She also gave a humorous account of their visit to Toronto exhibition, in closing she paid tribute to all those people who assisted in so many ways to prepare food for the 225 guests in those days of long ago and mentioned two of the ladies, Mrs. James Sharp and Mrs. Leonard Sharpe.

Rev. W. C. Cox, pastor of Rawdon United Church, brought greetings to both couples.

Herb Demorest, Marmora extended greetings on behalf of the seven grandchildren and four great grandchildren in attendance. Two of the grandchildren and their baby were unavoidably absent.

Tom Demorest invited the caterers to appear and Mrs. Ormel MacMullen voiced sincere thanks for the delicious meal to which Mrs. Burton Sharpe replied. Those who assisted her with serving were Mrs. William MacAdam, Mrs. Irvin Potts, Mrs. Frank Spencer, Mrs. Jody Sager and Mrs. Ralph Jeffs.

Sid voiced thanks to all those who provided the program and Florence extended a special thank you to everyone for assisting them to celebrate their 55th anniversary. The program closed with "Blest Be The Tie" after which the group enjoyed looking at pictures and clippings of the 1916 wedding and viewing the anniversary cards recently received.

Those in attendance at the dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Sid Demorest, Herb, Betty and Tom, Marmora; Mr. and Mrs. Ormel MacMullen, Susan and John; Mr. and Mrs. Reg Christopher, Sheila, Patty, Clifford and Glenn; Miss Anne-Marie Deryan, Belleville; Rev. and Mrs. W. C. Cox; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wright; Mrs. Margaret McMullen; Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Couch and Kenneth; Mr. and Mrs. Garth Joslin and Donald Campbell.

Couple wed 25 years ago

Recently on a Saturday evening when Elwood and Eileen Bateman arrived home, the families of both were present to welcome them for the celebration of their 25th wedding anniversary at the cottage at Oak Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Burton Bateman, parents of the groom, and Mrs. Alex Tanner, mother of the bride, and their family, Firth of Markham, Bonnie and George Atkinson of Peterborough, and Glenn, at home, had shared with Eileen's brothers, Gordon and Ralph Tanner and Shirley Brooks and their families in preparing the event with a turkey dinner.

Following the meal, the couple were presented with gifts and congratulations by all present. On Sunday, their family entertained them with dinner at Sun Luck Gardens.

Presbyterian women's group holds meeting

Mrs. Donald McIntosh was hostess to the ladies of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church Women at her home on Thursday, Sept. 9.

Mrs. Sheldon McIntosh, acting president for Sept. presided. Everyone joined in the hymn "Breathe on me breath of God."

Fourteen ladies replied to the roll call, a Bible verse containing the word reap. The minutes and correspondence were read by the secretary.

Direct dialing coming Nov. 14

Direct Distance Dialing will arrive for the following exchanges in the Belleville, Trenton, Frankford, Wooler, Bancroft, Maynooth and Cardiff on September 19.

The balance of Madoc, Marmora, Tweed, Stirling, Coe Hill, Gilmour, Picton, Thurlow, Arden, Wellington, Brighton and Bloomfield will receive this change on November 14.

Due to this major change and all the many re-arrangements required it was necessary to schedule the change over on two different dates. Some of the major changes required were new cable from Madoc to Marmora plus a major building extension in Belleville and the installation of all the necessary equipment to meet the need of the telephone user.

Direct Distance Dialing is not to be confused with toll-free calling.

Mrs. K. Tompkins. Miss Gena Sperry, treasurer, gave a brief report.

Mrs. S. Boyce reported on Cradle Roll activities, asking for more certificates and cards to be ordered.

Mrs. Boyce also consented to convene a label project, with all the ladies expected to save labels.

Mrs. R. Taylor reported that the choir gowns had been ordered and should be on the way.

Mrs. J. Johnston gathered the offering which was dedicated by Mrs. S. McIntosh.

Mrs. W. Hutchison reminded the ladies to keep saving used stamps.

Mrs. S. McIntosh read John 4: 27-37, then asked Mrs. Taylor to proceed with the Bible study. Mrs. Taylor began with a Bible Book contest. She then read Galatians 3: 1-10, and proceeded to hold a discussion on each verse of this Scripture passage. She stressed the importance of discussions like this. Everyone sees things differently, raising different interests in subjects. We should never measure one's worth with another's talent because we are all different. We must all try to pass the Word of God along. Visitations and dealings with others are very important. Mrs. Taylor finished with reading Revelation 3: 20 and offering prayer.

Mrs. McIntosh thanked everyone taking part and the hostess, Mrs. K. Tompkins rendered a solo, "Farther Along."

Mrs. S. McIntosh offered prayer and all joined in singing, "Blest be the tie that binds." The hostess and assistants served refreshments.

LOYALIST AWARDS LOCAL CONTRACTS

The economic impact of Loyalist College's current building program is already being felt on the local industrial scene.

At a recent meeting of the Loyalist College Board of Governors' Building Committee it was announced by Chairman Wes Down and President Herbert Young, that approximately half a million dollars in building contracts were awarded to two local firms.

Wilson Concrete Products Limited of Belleville was the successful bidder, among five contractors who took drawings and specifications, for the contract to supply pre-cast concrete. The dollar value of the contract is in excess of $200,000.

Another local firm, Central Bridge Company Limited of Trenton, in competition with some nine other potential bidders from as far away as Toronto, was awarded a contract of the order of $300,000. This contract covers the supply and erection of all the structural steel in the new building.

The new building adjoins the first permanent structure on the College campus, at its northern extremity. Its design is such that it will harmonize with the existing building.

Superb Stuffed Eggplant Delights At Dinner

It's not an egg, but nevertheless we call the large purple vegetable an eggplant. The reason—the first eggplants in Europe were the small-fruited kinds, resembling an egg, thus accounting for the name. This attractive vegetable is in good supply at your market now. For a satisfying main dish how about Stuffed Eggplant? It's marvellous, and it uses thrifty ground beef. The eggplant pulp, which you remove from the shell, and the sautéed meat are seasoned with zesty fresh vegetables. Then the filling is placed in the satiny purple eggplant shell, topped with buttery crumbs and Parmesan cheese, and baked. Bring out a loaf of Italian bread. Serve some fresh fruit for dessert, and there's dinner, simple but so special.

- Stuffed Eggplant
- 1 large (1 1/2 to 2 pounds) eggplant
 - 1 clove garlic, cut in half
 - 1/2 cup chopped fresh onion
 - 1 tablespoon olive oil
 - 1 pound ground lean beef
 - 1/2 cup chopped green pepper
 - 3 tablespoons chopped fresh parsley
 - 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
 - 1 1/2 teaspoons dried leaf oregano
 - 1 teaspoon pepper
 - 1/2 cup fine dry bread crumbs
 - 1 cup grated Parmesan cheese
 - 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted
- Wash eggplant and parboil 10 minutes in boiling water to cover. Remove from water and cut a lengthwise slice from the top. Scrape out pulp to within 1/2 inch from the skin and from the slice removed from top. Chop finely. Sauté garlic and onion in olive oil in large skillet. Remove garlic. Add ground beef and cook until it is no longer pink. Add eggplant pulp, green pepper and parsley; cook 5 minutes. Remove from heat and add seasonings. Sprinkle additional salt and black pepper inside the eggplant shell and fill with meat mixture. Mix bread crumbs with cheese and melted butter. Sprinkle over the top. Bake in a 350°F oven 30 minutes or until crumbs are browned. Makes 6 servings.

Dollars and Good Sense Waterway plan now under way

3 PM. 1971 SEP 15, Wednesday, September 15, 1971

(By William J. Martin)
Dear Mr. Martin:
My wife and I have managed to accumulate some money in the last few years and we're thinking about buying a vacation home in the West. We've been reading a lot of ads and don't really need and would like to hear your advice on this purchase.

Mr. M.B.

Dear Mr. M.B.:
The second home market in North America is truly booming with millions making the move you're contemplating. My congratulations to you, though, for taking the time to investigate the situation before committing your hard-earned money.

Basically, the type of second home you buy and its location depend on how you are going to use it. How much modern convenience do you want, how much isolation, how much time are you going to spend in it, how much will it cost to get there and back, etc. I'm sure you've already been asking yourselves these questions and more so I won't dwell on them, but the answers are vital to your investment.

Obviously, you should not choose a second home site solely on the basis of an advertisement, but should really understand exactly what you're dealing with, also when you're dealing with. Be careful about getting involved with the many hard-sell promoters until you are satisfied as to their background and reputation.

Watch the details. Don't accept verbal promises about future property improvements if you're buying in a planned vacation development. Make sure everything is in writing.

Your second home, like your first, is a major investment. Check the area out, talk to other property owners in the area, find out as much about the future plans for the area as you can.

The house itself should be sturdy constructed to last for future buyers. You might even consider the use of modular prefabricated homes now available.

To save expenses, you might rent your home when you are not going to be using it.

My wife and I have been discussing the possibility of her returning to work this fall, now that the young son of our two children will be entering kindergarten.

We've been weighing all the variables about this situation but we've probably left out a few. What's your advice on working wives?

Dear Mr. J.B.:
The income your wife might earn from a job can be a great boost to the family finances or could provide a lot less than you expect.

If your wife gets a full time job, for example, you will probably need to hire someone to take care of your children in the afternoons and do a little housework. Add this to the cost of transportation, lunches, clothing and even added food costs (because your wife will have to rely more on expensive convenience foods) and the net income may not be as much as you've anticipated.

My advice is to put quite a strain on your wife. Any outside employment needs the cooperation of all family members.

Consider also that the added income will put you into a higher tax bracket and to compute the true net income for your wife's job, this added tax burden should be deducted.

With all these deductions, a job that grosses $30,000 a year for your wife could translate to a true net of about $25,000. Not much for the effort and inconvenience of a full time job.

A part-time job, on the other hand, can actually net more for your wife because several high expenses will have been eliminated. She could arrange her hours so that she could be home to take care of your children and the housework - two big expenses.

A part-time job can be difficult, of course. Handling her new duties plus all of her previous chores can put quite a strain on your wife.

Any outside employment needs the cooperation of all family members.

A new winter wheat insurance plan featuring coverage based on the grower's own individual experience and yields has been developed by the Crop Insurance Commission of Ontario. The net result is an insurance plan that is much more attractive to high producing growers following top management practices. Under this system a good grower benefits in two ways. As well as starting at a higher level, his coverage automatically increases at the same time as his insurance yield increases. This increase in protection from year to year takes place at no additional charge to the grower. The cost per acre for this new insurance is $2.00 for the low range coverage and $4.50 for high range coverage. However, with the additional assistance to Crop Insurance recently announced by the Hon. William A. Stewart, Minister of Agriculture and Food, the Ontario and Federal Governments will pay half the premium costs, leaving the insured grower with a price of only $1.00 per acre for low range coverage and $2.25 per acre for high range coverage.

The new plan offered this year also contains bonus benefits at no extra cost to the farmer such as a reseeded payment on acreage damaged by winterkill and increased protection against loss due to a weather hazard.

Applications for winter wheat insurance must be made with the local Crop Insurance agent on or before October 1. County Agricultural offices can supply interested growers with additional information and refer them to their nearest agent.

the Hon. William A. Stewart, Minister of Agriculture and Food, the Ontario and Federal Governments will pay half the premium costs, leaving the insured grower with a price of only $1.00 per acre for low range coverage and $2.25 per acre for high range coverage.

The new plan offered this year also contains bonus benefits at no extra cost to the farmer such as a reseeded payment on acreage damaged by winterkill and increased protection against loss due to a weather hazard.

Applications for winter wheat insurance must be made with the local Crop Insurance agent on or before October 1. County Agricultural offices can supply interested growers with additional information and refer them to their nearest agent.

A FORUM ABOUT MATURE WOMEN

STRICTLY BUSINESS
Dear Margaret Brookfield:
I know my husband has a lot on his mind concerning business matters. I often hear him talking on the phone about different problems. Yet whenever I try to find out what's wrong, he won't confide in me at all. It's as if he doesn't trust me, and that makes me feel terrible. Although he probably isn't anything specific I could do to help him, I'd at least like him to know I'm on his side. How can I possibly let him know this?

M.R., Durham, N.H.
Dear M.R.:
Your husband's silence probably has nothing to do with whether or not he trusts you. Some men feel that sharing their worries, anxieties and difficulties with a woman is just plain unmanly. They'd rather sit and suffer in silence, even when desperate. Instead of talking over their problems with their wives. Since you and your husband have not been in the habit of discussing his business affairs in the past, it won't be easy to catch up. You can, however, try asking a few casual questions about his work from time to time - particularly when he doesn't seem pressured or worried. This will familiarize you with his business concerns and problems generally. Then, should he be having difficulties with his work, he may find talking to you somewhat easier.

HELPFUL HUSBAND
Dear Margaret Brookfield:
We have a neighbor who's always dieting but she never seems to lose any weight. This may sound funny, but I think her husband really wants to keep her nice and fat. He's always bringing home boxes of candy and other high-calorie items which are the worst things in the world for her. It just doesn't make any sense. Why would a man want to do a thing like that to his own wife?

G.C., Atlanta, Ga.
Dear G.C.:
He may simply be continuing his courtship habits of bringing gifts, without realizing their effect on his wife. Or perhaps he's like the husbands whom Professor Richard B. Stuart of the University of Michigan has studied. Dr. Stuart reports there are men who want to keep their wives overweight, either because they think stoutness in women is attractive or because they think the opposite and don't want their wives to be too attractive to other men. Some husbands, he adds, needle their spouses for being fat to such an extent that they may be the main reason why their wives became that way and re-

Facing Reality
Dear Margaret Brookfield:
My husband's mother, aged 75, is very ill. It doesn't look as if she's going to pull through. Since my youngest son, age 5, has always been quite close to his grandmother, I think he should be prepared for her passing. My husband disagrees, saying the boy is too young to be told the truth. He thinks we should say his grandmother has gone away on a trip, and that this will make things easier for all concerned. What are your ideas about this?

H.D., West Lebanon, N.H.
Dear H.D.:
Over the past two decades, various studies have shown that children can be psychologically hurt if terminal illness and death are not honestly faced and openly discussed. A death in the family can be traumatic for a child of any age, psychiatrists say, and he should have a chance to absorb the experience emotionally and to grieve. He must be helped with his mourning, they point out, and should not be expected to show grief in the same way as an adult does. Young as a child may be, they add, he must attempt to grasp the irreversibility of death to cope also with the painful process of letting loose his emotions. Following THE WAR GAME is ULYSSES, THE BLUE ANGEL, KONTIKI and then HOUR OF THE WOLF, which was directed by Ingmar Bergman, Sweden's most controversial director.

Keeping Busy
Dear Margaret Brookfield:
My wife, who is 54 years old, has worked at a nearby supermarket since 1943. She's now going through the menopause, has hot flashes and often feels uncomfortable. I would like to help her, but I don't quite know how. Since we don't have to depend on her earnings, do you think she should quit her job until her menopause is over?

P.S., Madison, Wis.
Dear P.S.:
The menopause is a transitional period in a woman's life which affects some more severely than others. Those needing help can best get it from their physicians. If estrogen therapy, for example, might restore their equilibrium during the difficult times, their doctors can prescribe it for them. If you would like to help your wife, you might suggest that she see a physician for a checkup soon. As for her work, there's no reason in the world why she should quit. Keeping herself busy at this time of her life is another good medicine for seeing her through.

A Dangerous Practice

What is this thing of summarized snowmobiles scooting around town in mid-September?

As though our ears were not shattered enough by screaming tires and revving motorcycles, now we have another source of noise pollution. Not to mention the increased traffic hazard.
On Saturday afternoon, downtown Stirling sounded like a drag strip as one of these modified snow machines roared past me through weekend traffic. The operator appeared to be not in the slightest concerned for his own safety as he dodged through traffic and into that most hazardous intersection of Front, North and Mill Sts.

Most residents of this part of the province by now have become accustomed to the snowmobile racket that erupts at the first sign of a snow flake in the fall and lasts well into spring.

And motorists, their nerves shattered by a thousand menaces on the road, are gradually getting used to the idea of sharing the highways with these snarling devices during the winter.

But it seems to us that the snowmobilers overstep the mark when they take to driving their low-slung machines on the streets and roads during summer months.

Summer operation of snowmobiles ought to be in the same category as go-karting. It should be confined to a track or suitable area specifically designed for such activity.

Under no circumstances should these machines be considered highway vehicles, particularly in summer when normal traffic is heaviest.

A plea for help

Here we are again at the time to register our Cubs and Scouts for another season and just the same as in the past few years, we are very much in need of Leaders. Why?

Where are all the parents of these boys? Is there not a Mother who could be our Akela? And there must be Fathers who are interested enough in the activities of their boys to help in the training of them too. Even if you are not a parent and are interested we would be only too glad to hear from you.

We are very thankful for the Leaders we have had but now we need more.

The Group Committee also needs help. If our Scouting is to carry on in our Community, there has to be money. To do anything you have to have money. To be a Scout is to be able to be outdoors, learn to Camp, Canoe, etc., but without money these activities are not available and we do not have money.

So - The Group Committee has decided that the week of Sept.
20th - 25th they will stage a door to door Canvas for funds.
They will give you an Honorary Scout Membership Card or if needed, for a large donation, a receipt will be given. Fathers, if you would like to help in this project, contact our Chairman, Roy Tucker. Please meet this canvasser at your door with a smile and give generously to a good cause. If you are not at home or are missed, don't feel slighted, just give or send all donations to our Secretary Treasurer, Bernard Farrell, Stirling, Ont. They will be gratefully appreciated.

Now the Group Committee is small in number and are badly in need of new members. We are grateful for the men who have carried on so faithfully, some have never had boys in Scouting but have been interested enough in our youth to give their time, so Fathers, what is wrong with you? Every year at the Annual Boy Scout banquet there has been a plea for Leaders and Committee Members and we sure have never been over-crowded with Volunteers. Don't wait to be asked, come forward! If you want your boy to belong to this worthwhile organization there must be some help given to our faithful few.

Please think this over and if there is anyone at all who is interested in helping in anyway please don't hesitate, either go and see or call Roy Tucker or Burton White, Vice-chairman.

We would like to thank the Editor for giving us this space in the paper.

CONTRIBUTED BY STIRLING CLERGYMEN

by Pastor Edward MacDonald
Good Tidings Pentecostal Church

There is a place for our minds and intellects. We are exhorted to apply our minds to the Word of God. We are to seek understanding and education in Christian matters. That is all very good and necessary. But let us never confine our Christian experience to the realm of the soul or mind. Let us never forget that the real inspiration, the real spiritual force of a man's life, springs from the depths of his being, right out of the heart of a man.

Just as the Holy Place in the Temple of old times was illuminated by the seven-branched candelstick, so our minds, our intellects, must be illuminated by the understanding of the Bible, the Word of God. That is the realm of Christian education. But, also, just as the Holy of Holies was occupied by the Shekinah, the visible manifestation of the glorious presence of God, so our spirits, our hearts, the centre of our beings, should be in dwell and empowered by the glorious Spirit of God.

God is offering to all this twofold experience. First you are offered the experience of John, chapter 4, The Well of Water Springing into everlasting life.
That is salvation. It is having eternal life-the life of Christ within you. Secondly, for every believer, there is further experience, when you receive the fulness of the Holy Spirit, and the well of water becomes an overflowing, flooding River of Living Water.

Acts 19: 2 "Have ye received the Holy Ghost since ye believed?"

Letter to the editor

September 10, 1971.

The Editor,

The Stirling News-Argus,

Stirling, Ontario.

Dear Sir:

Congratulations to the Spring Brook Pee-Wees for winning the ORSA trophy for this year. You may enjoy it for a long time, as ball clubs will not put twelve and thirteen year-old boys in the same position that the Glen Williams team was in last Saturday at your Marmora ball park in a game with the Spring Brook Pee-Wees.

The screaming adults, and I particularly mention the men standing behind the screen, continuously harassed, called names and criticized each of the opposing players as their turn came at bat. When the opposing team was in field the crowd chose in particular, the pitcher and catcher to confuse and belittled.

All sports are designed to be played with win or course, but what really is the purpose of minor ball? Isn't it to teach good sportsmanship and for boys to have the opportunity to be exposed to team sport? How can this be achieved by watching adults acting in such a childish manner? We have travelled to ball parks where barbecues and a social time for the boys to become acquainted after the game are not unusual; however, we have never visited a park where the crowd is ecstatic when a boy makes a mistake. I want to mention your first base coach; his responsibility when his team is at bat is to coach his team, not to stand at first base and continuously harass the opposing team's pitcher. When his team on the bench would run out of breath, he would turn to them and scream, "Come on yell!"

I remind you, Mr. Editor, that the opposing pitcher is a boy thirteen years of age and he had to pitch ball with, and this is a guess, two hundred people harrassing and screaming at him.
Your umpires were supposed to be neutral by ORSA rules. Some people can have a bad day, but no one can have that bad a day.
My thanks go to the umpires of the previous week, not because we won the game, but because they were fair and appeared to know the rules. Where were they last Saturday? If your umpire was in charge as he was supposed to have been, he would have moved those screaming ma-nias from behind the screen. I call them manias because only a maniac can laugh at a boy fighting tears from harassment.

I am one parent who will never take a boy to your ball park again.
In six years of playing in the ORSA this club has never been exposed to such rudeness and poor sportsmanship.

You have a good ball team but your game is ruined by the fans.

Mr. Editor, I submit this letter to your letter-box for publication.

Thank you.

Yours truly,

M. B. Lawson (Mrs.)

Scott Young

A few years ago, something happened to a friend of mine that changed his life.

It started out as something fairly mundane. He just felt uncomfortable and couldn't sleep, so he got up and wandered around the house.

He has always been one for not bothering other people if he can help it, so he didn't waken his wife - but by the time she got up the next morning at seven to go to work, it was almost too late. He was sitting in a chair downstairs and could hardly move with the pain.

She called their doctor. He got there in half an hour. My friend was able to dress himself with help. The doctor drove him to the nearest hospital, rather than wait for an ambulance. He was taken straight into the intensive care unit - a room where there were almost as many staff people as patients, so that all were under constant watch.

In the middle of the morning, his wife called us to say that he had had this heart attack.

She was broken up even more than would have been normal, because the first person to whom she had mentioned this, earlier, had exclaimed, "That's exactly how it was with my husband - and he didn't last the night."

My wife brought her over to our place. There were many things to do.

My friend had his own small business, selling and installing window glass, and employing four or five others. Luckily, his sister had worked there before her marriage, so she could help out in the office - although within a few weeks, when the future became clearer, her main task was to close the doors and wind up the company.

Once in hospital, my friend began to feel better. For one thing, as sick as he was, he found that he wasn't as badly off as many.

One other patient in Intensive Care had been trapped in the wreck of her car for two hours. Another was a man who'd had a heart attack while bowling. He'd been unconscious when he was brought in.

Now an attachment on his chest recorded his heart action on a lighted screen near his bed. He called it his television set and kept asking passersby for beer and a cigar.

After 48 hours or so, my friend was moved to a room on a different floor, slowly the recovery began. That summer it was a big victory when he was allowed to start feeding and shaving himself again.

But also during that summer he got the news: he would not be able to work again at the business he'd had all his adult life. Lifting heavy panes of glass was not for him any more.

Eventually, I was allowed in to visit him, the first of the non-relatives to do so. We are about the same age (47 then, 53 now).

He asked me, "How are you feeling?"

I said, fine.

"Not feeling over-tired or anything?"

I said when I did, I went to bed early and got caught up.
(The truth is, though, I don't always do that. Few do.) He said, "That's the strange thing

- I was feeling so ruddy healthy when this happened, but I was tired."

It was six years ago this month that he was allowed to go home. The assets of his business had been sold and he knew no other. A younger man might have caught on with another firm. Or, if he'd been with a large firm, he would have been able to work back in gradually as so many others in a similar situation do - an hour or two a day until they find feel strong enough for more.

He hasn't worked since. He's lucky in one way. His wife has a good job. But just about the time he became ill, she'd been planning on retiring on a part-pension and taking it easy for the first time in her life. She is cheerful enough about it, but loss of her own long-hoped-for leisure is sad, to me.

It is amazing how many people go-go-go and scoff at any suggestion that they might be going too fast. They think that they can slow down, after all. When they have to.

Farm tax program now under way

The Ontario Government has begun distributing more than $16 million among Ontario farm property owners under the 1971 Farm Tax Reduction Program.

Municipal Affairs Minister Dalton Bales disclosed today. The program, in its second year, is intended to help soften the impact of municipal and education taxes on farm properties. Property owners are eligible if they live in Ontario, their property was assessed as a farm in 1970 and their property has 11 acres or more; or if less than 11 acres, yielded a minimum of $2,000 in gross income from farming operations in 1970. Mr. Bales said the schedule of benefits this year includes certain farm property owners whose 1970 payments were delayed because of assessment coding errors.

Assistance is equal to 25 per cent of the 1971 net municipal taxes. Net taxes are the amount of municipal and education taxes imposed by mill rate in 1971 less basic shelter allowances received under The Residential Property Tax Reduction Act, 1968.

Farm tax assistance, together with The Residential Property Tax Reduction and the two year old Supplementary Tax Assistance for the Elderly programs represents a major initiative by the government to assist sectors of the population in dealing with property taxes, and rising living costs.

Cheques being mailed out are accompanied by a pamphlet explaining the program.

Mr. Bales said farm property owners with 11 acres or more will automatically receive a Government cheque.

For those with less than 11 acres, there is a different procedure. They will receive an application form. If their property yielded the $2,000 minimum from 1970 farming operations, the form should be completed and forwarded to the Subsidies Branch of the Department of Municipal Affairs.

The forms must be submitted on or before March 15, 1972. Mr. Bales observed that payments are being made simultaneously with the levy of the municipal taxes by each municipality on the farm properties.

Mr. Bales said, "This program is intended to benefit legitimate farming operations, not speculative interests. Consequently, benefits are refundable if the property ceases to be assessed as farm property, before or during 1981, because of its development for industrial, commercial or residential purposes." In such circumstances the owner of the property at the time of the change of assessment is liable for repayment to the Government at 8 per cent interest.

Spring Brook UCW

Spring Brook United Church Women held their regular meeting on Thursday, Sept. 2, in the church hall at two o'clock.

Mrs. Lorne Bailey, the president, opened the meeting with a challenge in verse form from the chairman of the annual meeting of the Board of Women, Mrs. Delbert Fleming and her committee took charge. Mrs. Clayton Burkitt had the worship 'Blessings' and gave the theme and story, Mrs. Hulda McInroy read the script James 1, verses 19 to 26, Mrs. G. McFaul gave a 'Woman's Prayer'.

Mrs. George Williams introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Clayton Thompson, who is very active in UCW work both at local and presbyterial level. She told us she became a member for the first with our group. She brought us a very interesting message as she had attended the Stewardship Seminar in Toronto, she told us of UCW part in the work of the church both local and world wide. She spoke of Tom Edmonds, a local minister who went as a missionary to Brazil. She explained World Development is a project our church has found worth while. Mary Ellen Thompson favored with a solo.

Our roll call was a place visited this summer. Mrs. G. Williams acted as the secretary in the absence of Mrs. Wellman, the minutes were read and business dealt with. A thank you was read for donations for blankets from overseas relief committee and a thank you for donation from Quin Mo Lac Camp was read. The treasurer, Mrs. Murney Mason, gave her report. The committees reported. Our opportunity sale was announced for later this month.

The meeting closed with the Benediction, Mrs. S. McFaul and Mrs. G. Broadworth served lunch and a social time followed.

Good Tidings

On Thursday evening, Mrs. M. Donnan welcomed to her home for the first fall meeting ladies of the W.M.C. of Good Tidings.

There was a good number of members and some visitors. Mrs. M. Donnan as president opened the meeting with a poem. Meet with God each day, and spoke briefly that our lives can be more effective if we spend time each day in prayer and meeting with God.

Miss M. Forbes led in prayer remembering those who were sick, and needs of missionaries. Mrs. L. Smith led in singing of choruses.

Mrs. C. West brought the devotional part of the evening speaking on Isaiah 55:1-6.

Vice President Mrs. T. Palmer spoke briefly of our work as a W.M.C. and thanked Mrs. Donnan for her hospitality.

Secretary Mrs. R. Donnan read the minutes of the last meeting and mentioned the W.M.C. Penny offering at Cobourg Camp had amounted to $81,000. Future business was discussed.

A time of prayer followed with Mrs. L. McInroy, Mrs. W. McKinnon and Mrs. E. MacDonald. Mrs. Donnan thanked the ladies for attending and served dainty refreshments.

The weekly newspaper

Perhaps the following words, penned by Duane Dewel of the Algoma Advance, give as good a picture of the weekly as anything we could find.

Titled: This is a weekly newspaper.

"It's a yellow clipping in a Bible telling the birth of a baby who smiled but a little while, otherwise remembered only by the parents and God."

"It's your life history, and life history of those you know."

"It's your joys and sorrows and those of your neighbors, recorded by the only news medium that cares about you. It's your life history, and the life history of those you know."

"It's your conscience joined with the others to form a guard against injustice."

"It's the difference between your being an uninformed animal or a human being, knowing and forming judgment based on facts made available to you, easily, quickly and truthfully."

"It's the support from which you ask and get the strength of many in furthering the welfare of your own world - your community."

"It's the only medium that shows the future that your footprints were once made on the shifting sands of time."

"It's the bellingrings at your birth, your marriage and the birth of your children; and tells the hell for you as you begin the long journey."

"It's your servant, waiting for your pleasure to be read - today, tomorrow or next week."

"It's a record for you to read, to keep to read again, or to discard; not a voice or a picture for an instant and then gone forever."

"It's the bringing of new tidings, not merely moments of glory descended on your house for all to remember and those who come after to know."

"It's the handful of clippings that bring tears and fond smiles of remembrance to your children, and children's children, when on that eventful day they must share what once was you and yours."

"It's you on your first day of school and at your graduation."

"It's you as a little boy, a bridegroom and a father."

"It's you as a little girl, a bride and a radiant mother."

"It's you - of you, by you and for you."

The September meeting of Chatterton W.I. was held at the home of Mrs. Berson Mitts of Foxboro with 10 members and two visitors present.

The president opened the meeting with the Institute Ode followed with the Mary Stewart collect. The minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted. The roll call - a short poem - was well answered.

The treasurer gave a report and a short business period was taken care of. Standing committee convocations gave reports. Plans were made to entertain other W.I. branches in October.

The convenor, Mrs. Mitts, took charge of the meeting. Mrs. Lugo MacInnes gave a piano solo which was enjoyed. Mrs. Mitts read a poem, A Shopping Trip. Mrs. Little introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Roy Tucker, district president, who gave an interesting talk on the life history of Lady Aberdeen. She started V.O.N. nursing and was an outstanding pioneer. The speaker was thanked and the meeting closed after which the hostess and her assistants served lunch.

Let Us Do It For You.

If you are one of our many readers who each week take time to look up a suitable wrapper, a bottle of mullage, the pen and ink, then take time to address it and place a 6¢ stamp thereon and then go out and mail your used copy to someone living a distance from the home town, we would suggest it would be much simpler to bring it and send it to our office $4.50 for a year's subscription (in Canada) and let us do all the mailing and addressing, etc. There is another advantage, too. The recipient will receive a fresh copy of the Stirling News-Argus weekly and will get it sooner, because it will be mailed at the same time as your own is mailed.

Mineral Feeding to Dairy Cattle

The fact that a cow needs certain levels of protein, energy, fat, fibre and carbohydrates in her diet is taken for granted. Farmers feed their herds accordingly. BUT - the fact that his cows need the essential minerals in order to maintain health, grow, and maintain a high milk production, has not had the attention it needs. Research during the last 40 years has shown that the trace minerals are most likely to be deficient in feedstuffs and forages and thus in the diets of livestock are manganese, iodine, zinc, cobalt, iron and copper.

Minerals are never entirely lacking in a cow's diet. The roughages and formulated feeds probably contain sufficient levels of minerals for normal health, reproduction and production, but if cattle are producing high amounts of milk everyday, they may need a boost in minerals. Since many mineral elements contribute to the structure of the body and all of them participate in its functional activities, such as growth, reproduction, and production, it is clear that the mineral requirements increase in proportion to the total amount of production and mineral contents of the products formed. There are 14 essential minerals for dairy cows. Four of these, potassium, selenium, sulfur and magnesium, are generally contained in sufficient quantity in natural ingredients in the cow's intake and therefore supply the needs of the vast majority of cows. Sulfur is sometimes lacking in high-moisture feeds, and our recommendation is for supplemental feeding of sulfur if a farmer's herd is on a high-moisture program and results indicate a need for additional supplementation. The other 10 essential minerals are Calcium, Phosphorus, Sodium, Chlorine, Zinc, Iron, Iodine, Copper, Manganese, and Cobalt.

Chamber reverses stand on re-zoning

The Stirling Chamber of Commerce directors on Monday morning decided to withdraw objections made earlier to the proposed re-zoning of two areas within the village.

The Chamber had been the sole objector to an application to have the old mill property on Front St. re-zoned to permit it to be used for general commercial purposes, and also to an application to permit a single family dwelling on Wright St. to be re-zoned in the form of a duplex. Directors present expressed continued interest in the purchase of the old mill property for use as additional municipal parking space. They felt that provision of ample free parking was essential to the preservation of Stirling's commercial core, which in turn provides a substantial share of the local tax money. Provision of more parking space is expected to highlight the agenda at a general meeting of the Chamber membership planned for Thursday evening September 30. At this meeting it is hoped that a proposal can be formulated, for presentation to the next meeting of the village council scheduled for October 4.

Senior Citizens visited by Ontario Place

On September 9 a bus crammed with Senior Citizens visited Ontario Place and all enjoyed it very much. Some of our girls in climbing the dark stairway up the Cinesphere found that one should reach a little higher to grasp the sectional hand rail. They thought the kind that goes all the way was much nicer.

To complete the day, Les McKown, the bus driver, took them to The Sherway Mall. One of the girls mailed too long and one, waiting in the bus remarked, "Next time we take a trip I would suggest that the driver hang a cow bell around her neck so that he could locate her more readily."

On September 16 we had a good attendance including two visitors, Mrs. Keith Ball, newcomer to our village, who lives in the Cora Eggleston home, brought her mother-in-law, Mrs. Dorothy Ball along, Mrs. Ball Sr., is a member of a club near Toronto. They were so nice to know we hope they will come again.

Next week we will again play progressive euchre and on Oct. 5 we go on a color tour. Get your name in if you are going. A nice lunch was served by Myrtle Tanner, Mrs. Ayrhart and Nellie Montgomery. Thought for the day - Marriage is a wonderful thing. No family should be without it. dis ole Scribe.

UCW Assembly Taxes Camp Quin-Mo-Lac

Camp Quin-Mo-Lac facilities were taxed to capacity as 173 United Church Women assembled for a weekend of study, fellowship and fun, from all parts of the Bay of Quinte Conference, on September 10, 11, and 12.

Twenty-four came from Belleville Presbyterian. Presentations of various types were used to carry out the theme, "Trends in the Church, part 2". An element of surprise permeated the program as each Presbyterian participated in a "Do-It-Yourself" item for the weekend.

The first venture by Cobourg Presbyterian consisted of "Ice Breaker". The members of the cast performed from a stage of one bench plus two chairs to introduce the activities. Renfrew Presbyterian followed in quick succession, with "Effective Christian Communication". This involved a quiz in which we evaluated our communication level. A film, "We have no Art-We do the best we can", preceded the evening social hour.

The Stewardship Trend was ably dealt with by Mrs. Margaret Lawson, Finance Chairman of the Board of Women. She said we need to know what we started from, where we are now and where we are going. Under the first heading the early mission-ary work was recalled, then the concepts of the U.C.W. as it was formulated, some of which are now being attained. Mrs. Lawson urged wider use of all resources at hand, in looking at the future she emphasized that total stewardship is time, talent and treasure. This would involve program, leadership and social action. Each part depends on the other; no part stands alone. At the close Mrs. Lawson fielded questions from the group.

Saturday afternoon saw the camp dividing into their working groups of eight as Lindsay Presbyterian presented their Venture, "What to Take into the New Church." Each group discussed and filled in their own sheets; Religious practices and what they mean to us; What we would miss if all Christian operation disappeared; What we would take into the New Church and what the goals of the New Church would be. A very effective Women's Lib march and bar-burning demonstration got Ottawa Presbyterian off to a good start in their Venture on "The Status of Women." A panel of four discussed in depth such topics as: the roles of the sexes; higher education for girls; jobs for women; problems of an elderly widow and of a young deserted mother of five children. Recommendations of the Status of Women Report and how they would affect these cases were given. The ladies then broke into groups for further discussion.

IODE holds Art Show, bursary tea

On Saturday afternoon and evening the Stirling Hon. J.R. Cooke chapter of the I.O.D.E. held its first Bursary Tea and Art Show and Bake Sale in the Community Hall.

The event had been convened by Mrs. Carl Boslak, a member of the women's club. The paintings for the Art Show were by Jack Ingham Downey, Madeline McIntosh, Helen Lamb and Jean Gordon with pen sketches by Jerry Stapley of R.R. 4, Stirling. Stan Olsansky of the Stirling Taxidermy had samples of his work on display while Carl Boslak had a display of minerals from the Bancroft Mineral Society.

The bake table which did a thriving business during the afternoon and evening was looked after by Mrs. Carman Fitchett. The baking goods had been brought to the hall by members of the I.O.D.E.

Mrs. Robert Hough, Regent of the I.O.D.E. and Mrs. Douglas Ackers were at the door to meet visitors to the art showing and tea. Tea and coffee pourers in the afternoon were guests to the tea by the I.O.D.E. The guest pourers included Miss Ross Spry, provincial council of I.O.D.E.; Mrs. Roy Taylor, Presbyterian Church; Dr. Ruth Mathieson, Mrs. W.C. Cox, Rawdon Pastoral Charge; Mrs. Robert Anderson, wife of Reeve; Mrs. Edward MacDonald, Pentecostal Church; Mrs. Peter Briggs, and Miss Gena Spry, I.O.D.E. membership convener.

Pourers for the evening were past regents of the Stirling I.O.D.E. which was formed in 1940. They included Mrs. William Morton, Mrs. Robert Burgess, Mrs. Ken Sine, Mrs. Robert Hough, Mrs. Bruce Bell, and Miss Gena Spry.

During the afternoon and evening the women's club held a draw for a door prize. Door prize winners for the event were Mrs. Forde Stapley, Mrs. Robert Whattam, and Mrs. Carl Spry of R.R. 4 Marmora.

I.O.D.E. Regent, Rita Hough thanked the artists for their help in the art showing and hoped that the Art Show and Bursary Tea could become an annual event.

The money from the event will go toward the education bursary which is given annually to a Stirling student after completing their high school education.

ted this in its Venture called 'Mission Africa.' Mrs. Hopkins as leader described this large continent as to surface, climate, wild life, etc. Other members showed articles they had collected such as posters, letters, miniature animals and articles made by Africans.

Building a Worship Service, was the theme of Kingston Presbyterial in their Venture. Each member described a phase of the worship: call, music, prayer, etc. Participants should remember they are not performers but channels through which God sends a message. The group then presented a beautiful worship on the theme, Wonder of Our Father's World. Recorded music and slides were used effectively as background.

Rev. George Ambury conducted three sessions which dealt with the relevance of 1 Corinthians 13 in connection with its relationship to every day living. Other aspects of the 'Face to Face' presentation enabled the group to study leadership, communication, goal setting, trust, participation, the expression of feelings and evaluation. Sharing the insights of the study group highlighted procedure in each session.

The summary of the weekend was given on Sunday morning by Belleville Presbyterial. This was in the form of a skit and ably conducted by Mrs. Fran Spear, president.

Music was a delightful interlude of the weekend under the direction of Mrs. Irene Hager. Man, assisted by Mrs. Maude Harrison at the piano or accordion. Entertaining skits around the camp fire contributed to the fun of the weekend.

Local group visits Barrie IOOF Home

On Sunday, September 19 the members of Thomasburg Rebekah Lodge arranged a bus trip to visit the I.O.O.F. Home at Barrie for the older people. The group travelled in a chartered bus owned by Wagers of Napanee. Several of the husbands and a few from Stirling made a total of 51. Those from this area included Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm McMullen, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Hollinger, Mrs. Bessie Bailey, Mrs. Olive Whitehead, Mrs. Gladys Sine, Mrs. Florence Hough, Mrs. Evelyn Finkle, Mrs. Percy MacMullen, Mrs. Edna Fox and Miss Gena Spira.

The group enjoyed their own noon lunch at Aurora, and then travelled to Barrie where they were welcomed by the lady supervisor, Mrs. E. Ball. All signed the register and various guided tours followed where everyone viewed the lovely rooms and unable to attend the program which followed in the auditorium. Wesley Farrell, Thomasburg, was Master of Ceremonies and presented Mrs. Ball with two boxes of chocolates as a treat for the 32 residents. Mrs. Isabel Martin St. Thomasburg, was pianist and Mrs. Kathleen McMullen, Noble Grand of Laurel Lodge No. 211 Stirling, conducted a hymn sing. Mrs. Percy MacMullen gave an elocution number 'The Stranger in the City' and she also read a poem written by brother Sterling Spicer of Prescott and printed in the tabloid in December 1969. This stressed the value of practising friendship, love and truth.

The group then travelled to Port Perry. Here Oddfellows, members of Warriner Lodge and Rebekah members of Maybelle Lodge were on hand to welcome them. They have a lovely new hall built in 1984. In May of this year the men observed their Centennial Services. On their program they included this thought, 'The road to success is a big highway; there's no room there for those who merely want to park.' The group enjoyed a delicious cafeteria supper in the banquet room provided free by the Port Perry sisters.

Later a short program was enjoyed in the hall. The visiting group made the presentation of an antique electric floor lamp for their hall. Wesley Farrell was Master of Ceremonies and voiced thanks for the enjoyable visit. Mrs. MacMullen gave two humorous selections. At the close Noble Grand, Kathleen McMullen sang 'Just a Closer Walk with Thee.'

Despite the rain and the fog on the homeward trip, everyone enjoyed a sing song. The Stirling group appreciated the opportunity to travel with the Thomasburg group.

Area couple mark 65th anniversary

A well-known Stirling area couple, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Vandervoort, observed their 65th wedding anniversary at Campbellford Memorial Hospital where Mrs. Vandervoort is a patient, on Sunday, September 5th.

Mrs. Vandervoort is the former Grace L. Weaver, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Weaver. The family resided on the second concession of Rawdon Township.

Mr. Vandervoort was born in Sidney Township. The couple farmed the Weaver homestead farm near Anson Junction until they semi-retired about 15 years ago. Both are of United Empire Loyalist stock. Mr. Vandervoort was born in 1882.

Mr. and Mrs. Vandervoort have three children: Harry, who now operates the former Weaver farm at Anson Junction; Dentist Dr. Ralph Vandervoort of Campbellford and George of Vancouver, who is retired after spending more than 40 years with the Bank of Montreal.

The staff of Campbellford Memorial Hospital where Mrs. Vandervoort is a patient, honored the couple on the occasion by presenting them with an anniversary cake. Stuart N. Carr, hospital administrator, nurses and members of the staff called on the couple to offer congratulations. They received many cards and messages.

PLANE MISSING, THEFT CHARGED

A charge of theft of an aircraft has been laid against Harvey Canuel, 50, of Trenton in connection with the three-week disappearance of a light plane from the Oak Hills Flying Club.

The Cessna Skyhawk, owned by Donald Lariviere of Stirling was borrowed by Canuel Sept. 2 for a trip to Gaspe with a Trenton youth, Marvin Badgerow, 19, as passenger.

Officials of the Napanee Regional Detention Centre confirmed Monday that Badgerow is being held there on charges filed by Trenton Police Department, for activities which apparently are unrelated to the missing plane case. Badgerow had gone along on the trip to the Quebec tidewater but left the plane when it diverted from its course into the United States. Badgerow has stated that the pilot wanted to take the plane to Cuba, but he did not want to go so he returned to Canada following a stopover in northern New York state.

Better service needed

Pardon us if we do not jump for joy over the prospect of direct long distance dialing coming to this area on November 14. Some how, we are skeptical of the claim that "you will be able to reach any one of millions of North American telephones in less than 20 seconds" under the new setup.

But that's not what really bothers us. It's the little daily frustrations encountered in using our telephone that often drive us to distraction. We would very much like to see these things corrected BEFORE Bell launched any more new "stage" schemes. To explain the problem, we pose the following questions:

1. Why, when we dial 0, does it take 50 rings to get the attention of the Operator? (This is not an exaggeration, as Stirling customers well know). Incidentally, it is necessary to call the operator when phoning in a fire alarm.

2. Why does it cost more to call Trenton than it does Belleville, though both places are the same distance away?

3. Why, when a phone number has been changed, does a person calling the old number get (a) a busy signal, or (b) no answer at all by the operator?

4. Why, when a customer is given a new number, does he have to be saddled with a number that is listed in the directory as belonging to another customer, who had his number changed because he was being harassed?

The list could go on, but we only mention a few of the common complaints that immediately come to mind.

Oh yes, it will be handy to pick up the phone and dial the number of Aunt Martha in Aneroid, Saskatchewan. But we won't start raising the red flag just yet. Not until we see a marked improvement in the service we already have.

"It's the man about the wiring, ma'am."

It's true, living in any older home without up-to-date wiring just doesn't hold a candle to truly modern electrical living.

The changes that electrical modernization brings will brighten your life throughout every room in your home - for years to come. You'll have more outlets and switches where you want them, better performance from your appliances - and you can even add the year-round comfort of electric climate control.

And rewiring an older home needn't be complicated or expensive. In fact, the cost will probably be less than you imagine.

For greater comfort and convenience - and an extra margin of safety, too - call your qualified Electrical Modernization contractor. Or ask your Hydro.

The Who's Who come-on

By DENNIS BRAITHWAITE
(Guest Columnist)

You won't find my name in Who's Who, but as a result of almost making it I am in a position to tell the world what's what with Who's Who.

Months ago, Marquis Who's Who Inc., publishers of Who's Who in America, Who's Who in the South and Southwest, Who's Who in the West, etc., wrote from Chicago inviting me to be in the 13th edition of Who's Who in the East.

Now, I am as vain as the next man and like all men feel I have never received full and true recognition for my accomplishments. With a minimum of blushing and foot-scooping, therefore, I filled out the biographical questionnaire and banged it back to the Marquis people (if memory serves, in their self-addressed envelope).

After a time they sent me a galley proof of my entry, asking for necessary corrections. There were a few errors, the funniest being a line that had me employed during the 30s at the Saskatoon Dairy Pool, it should have been Dairy Pool. I guess Marquis never before had a celebrity who got started as a can-washer in a dairy and therefore assumed it was really a newspaper.

After returning the corrected proof, I waited more or less patiently for Who's Who in the East to show up in The Toronto Telegram library, where I figured I could quietly look up my entry from time to time whenever my ego needed stroking.

But instead I received from Marquis another communication, a rather gaudy sales pitch, in fact, letting me know that if I acted promptly I could order my copy of Who's Who in the East for the knocked-down price to participating celebrities of $42.50.

Well, as I said, I'm vain; but I am also extremely touchy. The very thought that Marquis wanted me in their book, not for my own sake, but simply as a gimmick to get me to buy the thing, that didn't go down with me. So I threw out their come-on offer and tried to put immortality out of my mind.

A few weeks later, another sales pitch. This time Marquis had cut their price down to a rock-bottom $37.95. I must confess I toyed with the idea of subscribing - for the children's sake, of course; but in the end principle triumphed. Out went that offer, too.

By this time I was curious to know whether Marquis would use my biography if I didn't buy the book.

The other day I got my answer. Who's Who in the East, completely unsolicited and unaccompanied by any letter from the publisher, arrived at my house (I know the bill will follow in a few days). And what do you think? I am not in it.

Funny thing, though. A lot of genuine celebrities aren't in it, either. Pierre Berton, for example, and Gordon Sinclair, Morton Shulman, Mordecai Richler, Jack McClelland, Robert Fulford. On the other hand, some who presumably did cough up the $37.95 and did get in are Peter C. Newman, Farley Mowat, Robert Stanfield and, sorry about that, chief, John Bassett.

Pierre Elliott Trudeau is in, but only with four lines from the public record. Obviously he didn't co-operate, and didn't pay.

So I am in pretty good company, after all.

A FORUM ABOUT MATURE WOMEN

Too Good Husband

Dear Margaret Brookfield:

I was married for a second time at age 39. That was two years ago. We didn't go on a honeymoon because I had a 10-year-old son. Now we also have a one-year-old baby daughter. My husband, who's 45, is a good man, perhaps too good. He doesn't go out at night with "the boys." He never wants us to go anywhere without the children. He calls his home his castle. Now his vacation is coming up and he wants to visit relatives. That's all he ever wants to do on vacations. I'd like for us to get away by ourselves. In our entire marriage, it seems we've never been entirely alone. How can I get him to see it my way?

D.N., New Iberia, La.

Dear D.N.:

You do have a point. But it's difficult to understand why you didn't have a honeymoon in the first place, since a 10-year-old boy, under such special circumstances, isn't that hard to park briefly with friends or relatives. It would seem from the start that perhaps your husband felt most comfortable in a family situation. (He did, after all, get a ready-made family when he married you.) So prying him loose may not be easy. You might, however, try for a compromise. See if you can't persuade him to split up his vacation so that you spend some time with the relatives and still have a few days alone together.

Getting Back

Dear Margaret Brookfield:

I am 61 and a widow. I recently lost my husband after nearly 30 years of marriage. (We had three lovely girls, but they all live quite a distance away now.) He was a dear husband and I miss him. Yet I can't cry and I can't adjust to widowhood. Although I don't desire another marriage, I am used to male companionship and would like to find a decent man as a platonic friend. I don't like to blow my own horn, but people say I'm rather attractive. I have a nice figure and wear clothes quite well. I love books, museums and music. I'm finding it so hard to get back into the swing of things. Have you any suggestions on this?

M. L., Indianapolis, Ind.

Dear M.L.:

There's no one formula for getting back into circulation. Outgoing people generally have an easier time than shy ones about joining clubs, contacting friends, organizing activities and getting themselves right into the thick of things. In any case, the effort to create a new life for oneself needs to be made when the old life is no longer possible. Why not begin with the interests you already have? Perhaps you might join a book discussion group, do volunteer work at a local library or attend lectures and special museum events. Also, you might explore the other activities your community has to offer and take advantage of them. There's no guarantee you'll meet a man that way. But you sure won't meet one staying home.

Homebody or Somebody Else

Dear Margaret Brookfield:

I'm a mother of four teenagers and have always had a good marriage. Our oldest daughter is now in college, and the second one goes there in the fall. Both my boys are presently in high school and pretty much on their own. As a result, I'm beginning to feel very unneeded. Whenever I mention this to my husband, all he says is "ha ha." I think I'd like to work outside the home now, but my husband-whose office is nearby-wants me here.

Among the Books At Stirling Public Library

The Stirling Public Library board met for the regular September meeting, and it was noted that the John J. Good phone honoring the entire school in the Stirling district has been brought up to date by Mr. Good, with the addition of the names of the 1971 students: Richard Canny, Cayle Hoover and Wayne McCurdy. The donation from the Stirling Girl Guides in memory of Mrs. Mac Kent has been used to purchase the following books: "Wildwood Wisdom" by Bill Worth Jaeger, a book that covers all aspects of camping and woodcraft; "Indian Games and Crafts" by Robert Hofstede (Grey-Wolf). Both these books will be very popular with the young people.

Other new books are "Snowy" - the story of an egret" by Griffing Bancroft, an unforgettable tale for all ages, of a young male egret who pits his strength and will to live against an increasingly inhospitable environment.

Your youngest readers will enjoy another story of a little Indian - "Snapping Turtle's all wrong day" by Peggy Parish. New adult fiction includes Hugh Garner's new novel "A Nice Place to Visit" - a chilling account of an event in a small community that discovers the truth about the surface and "The Assignment" by Martin Myers - a funny, entertaining and thought-provoking novel about a Canadian who has written a novel of ideas that will stay with the reader long after the last page has been closed.

For more serious reading, we have "Hostage in Peking" by Anthony Grey, the journalist imprisoned for two years in solitary confinement by the Chinese Communist regime as a hostage; "The Embury Land" by A. C. Forrest, an outspoken description of the situation in the Middle East; and "Duel of Eagles" by Peter Townsend, an account of the Royal Air Force, rich in human detail and drama - history at its most exciting. "The Tom Thomsen Mystery" by William T. Little is an account of the research undertaken by the writer into the untimely death of this famous Canadian artist. A craft book-out of illustrations, and including a historical introduction, is "Making Ceramics" by Lis and Hans Lundkvist.

Out of town students are again reminded to renew their library cards for the coming year, Happy Reading.

Smith - St. Pierre

Standards of gladness, banked with cedar, adorned the sanctuary for the recent wedding of Brenda Lee St. Pierre to William Thomas Smith, Rev. J.B. Small, minister of St. Paul's United Church, officiated at the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Craig Watson presided at the organ and the soloist was Miss Lana LeChapelle.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Basil St. Pierre, Stirling, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Smith, R.R. 3, Belleville.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length white gown of imported nylon organza, in the Elizabethan style. The bodice was trimmed at the empire waist with a band of ultra fine guipure lace, imbedded with miniature seed pearls as were the full bishop sleeves and wedding band collar. The full skirt was trimmed at the bodice, forming three vertical rows of edging from neckline to the hem, which flared at the back forming its own train. Her two-tiered, shoulder-length veil, fell from a tiara of aurora boureallis and miniature seed pearls. She carried a spray of variegated pink carnations.

The maid of honor, Miss Laurie St. Pierre, sister of the bride, wore a floor length gown of light green chiffon over taffeta, with flowing chiffon inserts falling from the back of the gown. Bridesmaids Miss Joy Smith and Mrs. Mary Jane Reynolds, sisters of the groom, were dressed in floor length gowns of yellow chiffon over taffeta trimmed with white daisies. The flower girl, Miss Sherry Anne Smith, niece of the groom was dressed identically to the bridesmaids. All the attendants wore scattered daisies in their hair, and carried cascades of daisies, and the flower girl a basket of daisies.

Blair Vermilyea was best man while the groom's brother, John Smith, Belleville, and Ralph Canning of Gouverneur, N.Y., uncle of the bride, were the ushers. For the reception at the IOOF hall in Stirling, Mrs. St. Pierre received the guests in a street length dress of rose-beige chiffon over taffeta, variegated lace bolero, with brown accessories and wore a corsage of tallman roses. Assisting her was the groom's mother wearing a dress of turquoise polyester crepe, black accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.

For the wedding trip to Niagara Falls, the bride chose a two-piece pant suit of beige crimpelene with brown accessories and a corsage of yellow roses. On their return, the couple will reside at 270 Delhi St., Guelph, where the groom attends university and the bride is a student nurse at Guelph General Hospital.

Guests were in attendance from Iroquois, Morrisburg, Brockville, Lindsay, Belleville, Gouverneur, N.Y. and Vernon, Vt.

Coronary artery disease develops over many years of time, says the Ontario Heart Foundation. The earlier in life a heart-saving diet is adopted, the lower your risk of heart attack.

To help reduce the risk of heart attack, the Ontario Heart Foundation recommends a diet that uses less animal fats and fewer cholesterol-rich foods, such as eggs and organ meats.

Your Chev/Olds dealer introduces the 1972 Chevrolets and Oldsmobiles.

This is your year for a new car. Be glad. Because here's a wide choice of truly fine cars.

From Chevrolet your choice ranges all the way from the zippy little Vega, the little car that does everything well, to the big Chevy Caprice. Remember, all Big Chevys give you room, plus power steering, power front disc brakes and if you get the V8 engine, automatic transmission. All standard.

Between the little Vega and the big Chevy you get Nova. This is the not-too-big, not-too-small Chevrolet. The famous-for-dependability Chevrolet.

A shade bigger and a touch sportier than Nova is the Chevelle. A mid-size car with a lot of big ideas. Especially in its ride and passenger comfort.

Or is this the year you step up to Oldsmobile?

Cutlass makes it easy. This is the intermediate-size Oldsmobile, with the style, comfort and performance that says Oldsmobile all the way. Cutlass. Puts you in an Oldsmobile a couple of years sooner.

If the ride's the thing with you, better go Olds Delta 88. Hard to believe it's the lowest-priced big Olds. And it's big all the way. Big in the comfort of its G-Ride system. Big in standard features. Big in the feeling of leadership you get when you're behind the wheel.

Whether you go for a little Vega, a dependable Nova, sporty Chevelle or Cutlass, or a big Impala or Delta 88, you get something extra. It's called value. General Motors value.

Weekly Meditation

CONTRIBUTED BY STIRLING CLERGYMEN

by Rev. John A. May, B.A., B.D., St. Paul's United Church
Stirling, Ontario

TEXT - Job 42:5

"I have heard of thee by the hearing of the ear: but now mine eye seeth thee."

How joyous it is when a Christian can speak these words of Job, concerning his relationship with God, with real meaning and conviction. Many who profess to be followers of Jesus Christ still await that personal relationship with Him.

The Psalmist cries, "O God, Thou art my God." What would we not give for a first-hand revelation like that.

The plea of many Christians is, "How can we come to know Christ in that way?" God indeed works in mysterious ways, but surely there are some guidelines for us to follow:

You have heard the teachings of Jesus Christ and of His way of life. You know His concerns for mankind and the road upon which He travels. Keep following and He will lead you to greater things. You cannot know Him if you do not follow in His way.

Often men say they do not pray because Christ is not real to them. The truth is, Christ is not real to them because they do not pray. Christ bids us to commune with God in this manner.

As we commune with God in this way, we open channels through which we can hear Him speak to us. It is important for us to keep praying.

If love is the most Christlike thing in the world, and if you love someone with all your being, does it not follow that Christ cannot be far away? It has been said that the greatest simplification of religion ever made was made by Christianity: "Love is of God, and every one that loveth is born of God and knoweth God" (1 John 4:7). Love can be considered as the royal road to a convincing religious experience.
Keep loving, expressing the love which God in Jesus Christ showed for mankind.

May our confession be one not only with Job and the Psalmist but also with Peter, "Thou art
the Christ, the son of the living God."

Dollars and Good Sense

(By William J. Martin)
Mr. Martin serves as a special consultant to Avco Financial Services. All questions should be sent to him P. O. Box 5875, London, Ont. Those containing a name and address will be answered in this column or by direct return mail. No names will be used in print.
Dear Mr. Martin:
Last month my wallet, containing several credit cards, was stolen. Before I could notify the companies involved, some charges had already been made on them.
I know when I have used my cards that very little checking is made. It seems that security could be tightened up, is anything being done about this?

Dear V. G.:

Your case is being experienced by many persons throughout Canada and the U.S. each year.
This year in Canada, for example, oil companies alone will probably lose more than $3 million from stolen credit cards.

The losses from all cards in Canada could easily top $10 million. When combined with even larger losses in the U.S., the total loss is truly staggering.
As a result, strong countermeasures are being taken to curb credit card abuses. Several companies are now using elaborate computer verification systems.

Dealers and retailers now must phone in a customer's card number to a central computer bank.
Instructions coming back can range from "confiscate" to "credit OK."

Checks are made on all purchases over a certain dollar amount. That amount, however, varies continually and is even different in different locations of a city.

Computers can also warn of variations from regular buying habits. If unusually large charges are registered suddenly, a check is made to determine if anything might be wrong.

Of course, there are safeguards you, as a credit card holder, can take, too. First of all, guard that card just as though it were cash. It really is. Secondly, examine your monthly statement and be sure they are in agreement with your own records.

Many people have also found it wise to take out the fairly inexpensive credit card insurance policies being offered by many companies.

It's up to all of us to help keep credit card abuses at a minimum.

WORKING WIFE

Are you a working wife? Are you a member of the growing labor force that now numbers 15.4 million in the U.S. alone? Then you might be interested in these facts.
Worse yet, are you a working mother? The number of working mothers in the U.S. continues to increase at a particularly rapid pace for the fourth straight year.
The number of working wives with children under 18 years old is now 10.2 million, about 460,000 above last year's total.

Young children, of course, exert a major influence on the likelihood of a wife's working. About 26% of all wives with children under 3 years old are in the labor force.

But when the children are older,
the percentage of working mothers increases. Over 37% of those whose youngest children were 3 to 5 and 4% of those whose children were old enough to be in school were in the U.S. labor force.

Many wives have been forced to seek employment recently because of increasing unemployment of their husbands. But the particularly high unemployment of husbands, although higher, was too close to that of women with employed husbands to account for the recent increases.

Rates for married women continue to rise steadily with little regard to the level of unemployment or prevailing economic conditions.

The statistics indicate that in order to enjoy the better life it is necessary for both husband and wife to work. Although inflation is high, today's incomes provide substantial buying power compared to years past.

Despite this fact, the income of just one breadwinner these days doesn't seem to be enough to provide the standard of living desired by most people - thus an ever larger number of working wives in the labor force.

If you are a hard working wife and mother, at least you know you're not alone, although that might not be much comfort at the end of a long day.

TODAY'S CHILD

BY HELEN ALLEN

Toronto Telegram Syndicate

"Handsome and lively"

Ross is 16 months old, a sturdy, well-developed, healthy boy with big blue eyes, very blonde hair, and clear, fair skin.

A lively youngster, he likes rough games - especially wrestling with a two-year-old. He enjoys books and television, and though he is a very active child he does like to be cuddled.

As a younger baby, Ross had his moments of being irritable and difficult, but he is getting over that and is usually sociable and happy. He is developing normally now, but there is a chance he may have learning problems when he reaches school.

This dear little fellow needs loving parents who are easy-going but able to be firm when necessary, and whose academic expectations are not too high. To inquire about adopting Ross, please write to Today's Child, Department of Social and Family Services, Parliament Buildings, Toronto 182.

For general adoption information, ask your Children's Aid Society.

On Thursday, September 16, the members of St. James Catholic Women's League gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James McAvoy for the first full meeting which was presided by the celebration of Mass by Father McGarvey. Members were asked to volunteer as Sunday School teachers. Those who were collecting for the Canadian Rheumatism and Arthritis Society were requested to complete their returns as soon as possible. The main topic on the agenda was preparation for the bursale on September 27. Parishioners were asked to cooperate in this undertaking.

Father McGarvey spoke on the Charismatic prayer movement and Catholic renewal. He also asked members to consider the need for encouragement of the parish council which was formed last year, the aim being to contribute to the pastoral needs of the parish.

Following the close of the meeting a very enjoyable lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. La Chappelle.

WEEKLY REPORT

FOXBORO DISTRICT

(CO-OP)

USING MINERALS EFFECTIVELY

Our previous column highlighted the need for 14 minerals. This week we look at calcium and phosphorus.

Enough research data can be found on Ca/P ratios, to show that there is an ideal Ca/P ratio which lactating dairy cows require.

Cows fed on a diet with a lower or higher Ca/P ratio than 2.3:1 contracted milk fever in greater numbers than at 2.3:1.

Dairymen realize the main ingredients of a successful feeding program are top quality forages, a dairy ration that balances the forage, and a free choice mineral supplement that complements the other two.

|-------------------|---------|
| Hay | |
| • Alfalfa | 0.12:1* |
| • Alfalfa-Brome | 3.80:1 |
| • Alfalfa-Timothy | 4.10:1* |
| • Brome | 2.20:1 |
| • Timothy | 2.50:1 |
| Haylage | |
| • Alfalfa | 4.25:1* |
| • Alfalfa-Brome | 6.60:1* |
| Silage | |
| • Corn | 1.40:1* |

The ones with the stars are unacceptable ratios if these forages formed most of the daily dry matter intake. Consequently, the dairy ration Ca/P ratio and the mineral Ca/P ratio become important. The most important is the dairy ration, because it is fed in larger amounts. The mineral complements the dairy ration to ensure the correct bal-

Community school activities will be expanded in 1971-72

STUDENT COUNCIL OFFICERS

Plans are under way for another season of activities under the auspices of the Stirling Community School Association.

Indications are that the program, initiated here last fall, will be greatly expanded for the 1971-72 year.

New activities planned for this year include square dancing, reupholstering, arts and crafts, photography, sheet metal, weight lifting, baton twirling, and possibly a Bible discussion group.

David Smith, co-ordinator of Community Schools with the Hastings County Board of Education, was present for a meeting of the Stirling association last Thursday evening at the Junior School.

He praised last year's group for the fine work it did in getting the community use of schools program off the ground so well.

"I think the program here has really been great," said Mr. Smith. It has been used as a model for the whole county.

Under the program, the board of education allows free use of the schools for non-profit community activities, during hours when regular classes are not in session.

Mr. Smith commended last year's president, Jack Weatherell, for the leadership he gave the association.

This year's executive consists of Mrs. Lois Benson, president; Mrs. Debbie Seeley, secretary; and Ed Fleming, treasurer.

Douglas and Betty Waddell, Trenton, of the Trent Valley and Village Squares, were present to discuss the possibility of starting a square dancing program.

It was agreed that the club be given the use of the Junior School auditorium on Thursday evenings, and the Senior School auditorium on Saturday evenings for beginner and advanced instruction respectively. This program began last Saturday evening.

The Trimmets group agreed to meet in the Junior School library on Monday evenings, beginning this week.

Adult sports will take place in the Senior School gymnasium on Wednesday evenings, beginning in mid-October. Teenage sports are planned for the same location on Thursday evenings, beginning Oct. 14.

Creative dramatics will begin Oct. 6 at the Junior School auditorium and will be held each Wednesday evening.

Sewing classes will be held on Monday evenings, beginning next week.

Student council movies will again be held at the Junior School auditorium on a once-a-month basis, on Saturday afternoon.

Enquiries will be made concerning the possibility of offering extension courses, possibly from Loyalist College, as part of the community school program.

Rev. Edward MacDonald, pastor of Good Tidings Church, suggested the possibility of holding a weekly Bible study, preferably led by a layman, with group discussion on the issues affecting people's lives today.

It was stressed that the program is being offered, not only for the benefit of Stirling residents, but for the entire area served by the Stirling schools.

It is hoped there will be much greater participation by rural citizens in this year's program of activities.

Service

A small word with such variations in usage. Those of us in Guiding may interpret service in many ways. We consider that it carries the ideas of some cheerful and willing sacrifice of time and effort.

The key words in Guiding then are service, helpfulness, development, attainment, satisfaction, and one could add work to this list. However, these will sum up to show the very great need for help from mothers in achieving these goals. May we ask your help either on a full time or part time basis.

Once more we are appealing for leaders for the Brownies. There will be Brownie registration, for mothers only, on Tuesday, October 5th at 8 o'clock in the Junior School gym, if your daughter wishes to be a part of Guiding, then come to this meeting of mothers next Tuesday, all Guide and Brownie mothers are asked to attend this very important local association meeting.

Madoc has new reeve

T. C. Barton, councillor on the Madoc Village Council, was appointed reeve at a special session held September 16, at the Council Chambers here.

The meeting had been called to select a successor to Thomas Burnside who resigned as reeve earlier this month.

Members attending the meeting were Councillors Robert Kirkwood, Kel Kincaid, Clayton Smith and Mr. Barton. The council voted to send a letter to Mr. Burnside voicing its appreciation for his many years of dedication.

Mr. Barton will assume office October 1.

Robert Graham was appointed to fill the vacancy of councillor.

Senior Citizens old and shaky

The Senior Citizens struggled through eight games of progressive euchre on Thursday last with the following results: Top ladies, Dorothy Summers and Edna Campbell with Martha Wood trailing. For the men, Willie cheat and Elwood Johnson (tied) with our president Fred Heasman disgusted and out of step away back in the rear ranks.

Lunch was supplied by Tilley Senior and George McMullen with Fanny Kane and Lil Heasman assisting to serve it.

The bus leaves on a color tour from St. Paul's United Church parking lot at 9 a.m. on October 5th. Bring a noontime lunch but the bus will stop somewhere for the evening meal.

If We Only Could I discovered this in Andy Clarke's Neighborhood News.

When people's cars get old and worn, and then begin to totter. They go somewhere and trade them in and get the latest model.

Now, I have very often thought that when our joints get achy and when our hair has all turned grey and knees are rather shaky

And when the onward march of time has left us rather feeble, How nice 't would be to find a firm that deals in worn-out

How nice 't would be when feet give out, or we have damaged hips

If we could go and buy new parts—just like we do with flippers!

And when the form is bent with age, and gets to looking shoddy

How nice 't would be to trade it in and get a brand-new body.

Raymond Vanslyke killed in accident

A spectacular one-vehicle collision on the Wallbridge-Loyalist Road mid Sunday afternoon claimed the life of a 19 year old Holloway youth, and sent two of his passengers to hospital, one remaining in critical condition.

Raymond Vanslyke, of R.R. 2 Stirling, driver of a 1966 Chevrolet, died when his car struck a tree half a mile north of the Sidney Township municipal offices.

A passenger, Roger Sine, 20, of R.R. 1 Foxboro was rushed to Kingston General Hospital where a spokesman described his condition as "critical." He is suffering from severe head injuries.

A third occupant of the car, Reginald Fleming, 20, of R.R. 5 Trenton is in the intensive care ward at Belleville General Hospital, having sustained a fractured left arm, multiple bruises and lacerations and further unspecified injuries.

A fourth person, also a passenger, apparently suffered only minor injuries and was not admitted to hospital.

OPP Constable Shane Halvorsen investigated.

Mr. Vanslyke was the son of Wilbert Gordon "Bill" Vanslyke and Ida Vanslyke, R.R. 2, Stirling.

Born at Bowmanville, he had lived at Holloway for the past five years, moving there from R.R. 1, Foxboro. He attended Marshall Hill public School, Quinte Secondary School and Belleville Collegiate.

He had worked as a truck driver.

Aside from his parents, he is survived by two brothers, Carl and Stephen, both of Belleville, and a sister, Mrs. Norman (Sheila) Keilar, R.R. 4, Stirling. The funeral will be held today from the Hogle Funeral Home at 3 p.m. with Rev. Robert Jones of Picton officiating. Interment will take place in Stirling Cemetery.

NDP names Hastings candidate

Richard Lunn, 45, a Prince Edward County native, is the New Democratic Party candidate for the Provincial Riding of Hastings.

Mr. Lunn, a journalist and teacher, has been active in the NDP for many years, having worked in Provincial and Federal campaigns for Andrew Brewin, MP Woodbine Beaches, Reid

Scott, former MP for Scarborough West and John Brown, MPP Hastings. This is the first time Mr. Lunn has been a candidate.

Born in Hillier in Prince Edward County, he still lives in an old farmhouse on the second concession of Hillier with his wife and five children.

Mr. Lunn was educated in Wellington and, following service in the Royal Canadian Air Force in 1943-45, attended Queen's University from which he graduated with an honours degree in history.

As a journalist, Mr. Lunn has worked as reporter, copy editor and staff writer for The Kingston Whig-Standard, The Globe and Mail, The Toronto Daily Star, The Star Weekly. He is at present Vice-Chairman of the Journalism Department, Ryerson Polytechnical Institute, Toronto.

Chief issue in the Hastings riding, according to Mr. Lunn, is tourism. "Hastings is a natural area to absorb the flood of tourists and vacationers from the Toronto Metropolitan area," says Mr. Lunn, "and the provincial government has failed miserably to promote the natural beauties and tourist possibilities of this area."

"The Tory government is almost completely industry-oriented," he says, "and because of this has failed to spend the kind of money and use the kind of talent necessary to develop tourism in this province."

Mr. Lunn is deeply interested in problems of population and environment. Last year he was a Canadian delegate to a United Nations conference at The Hague, Netherlands, and has worked for the Food and Agriculture Organization of the UN as an information officer in India.

Both Mr. Lunn and his wife, Janet, are interested in history and writing. In 1967 they published The County, a history of Prince Edward County written for the Centennial of Canadian Confederation. Mr. Lunn has published two other books - high school English literature texts - and Mrs. Lunn is author of a children's novel.

Mr. Carr was the former Alta Hanna, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Hanna. Ernest is a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frank Carr and they have always lived in the River Valley community. They were married on September 28, 1946 in St. Paul's United Church, Stirling with Rev. A. M. Laverty officiating.

The bridesmaid was Ethel Hagerman Bateman and the groomsmen were Edward Heasman. The ring bearer was Douglas Kane and the flower girl was Patsy Donohoe. Harry Heasman and Don Donohoe were ushers. The soloist was Mrs. Don McIntosh and the musician was Mrs. Harry Morrow.

All of the wedding party were in attendance at the silver anniversary except the flower girl. Numerous flash pictures were taken during the afternoon.

The couple have one daughter, Joyce and three sons, Donald, Allen and Grant and one grandson Mark.

They have always been interested in community affairs. John is a member of St. John's Anglican Church, Mrs. Carr is a member of River Valley Women's Institute and the River Valley U.C.W. Unit.

Couple wed 25 years ago

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Andrews of R.R. 4, Stirling, were honored recently at a surprise 25th wedding anniversary party at their home, given by their daughters. About 60 relatives, friends and neighbors were present.

They received a beautiful dinner set for their new home from their daughters, plus many other lovely gifts for which they expressed sincere thanks.

A buffet lunch and anniversary cake was served. Many enjoyed dancing for the rest of the evening.

Mrs. Andrews is the former Gladys Henderson and they were

The River Valley Women's Institute Centre was decorated with white bells, various wedding symbols and floral gifts of yellow gladioli and variegated asters.

Their daughter, Joyce Carr, assisted by daughter-in-law Gloria Carr, were in charge of the guest book.

One hundred and sixty people were in attendance from Flint Michigan, Toronto, Bancroft, El Dorado, Belleville, Warkworth, Ivanhoe, Delma, Havelock, Stockdale, Mount Pleasant and the Stirling area.

The tea table was centred with a floral decoration and flanked with silver tea services.

The anniversary cake was made in the form of an open book with white icing and a bouquet of pink sugar roses on the corners.

The guests were served at quartet tables by a large number of cousins and community friends. Among them were Miss Eleanor Bush and Mrs. Burnard Farrell who were witnesses at the wedding in 1946.

Those who poured were Mrs. John B. Hagerman, Mrs. Fred Stone, Mrs. J. L. Donohoe, Mrs. Don McIntosh, Mrs. Wilbur Bateman, Mrs. Harry Morrow, Mrs. John Kane, Mrs. Roy Bush, Mrs. Jack Donohoe, Mrs. Cecil Harris, Mrs. Ed Heasman and Mrs. Fred Chevis.

Record real estate sales

Real estate sales in Hastings County continued to run at a record rate in July and August this year, according to a survey by A. E. LePage Limited, Realtor.

A regular monthly survey of the Registry Office figures shows that the total dollar value of home sales in the Hastings County area was $4,971,551 for 341 sales in August this year compared to $3,098,008 for 188 transactions in August last year. This is an increase of 60 percent. Sales volume in July 1971 totalled 118 units for $2,871,629 against $3,610,114 for 197 deals in July 1970.

The cumulative three-month volume of sales (June, July and August) is $10,213,166 for 679 units sold this year compared to $8,290,009 for 505 units sold in the corresponding three-month period of 1970.

Mrs. E. Marguerite Cooke, Assistant Vice-President and Manager of the Belleville Office of A. E. LePage Limited, estimates that Hastings County real estate sales, spurred by a backlog of demand and increased home building, will increase at least 15 percent this year.

In addition to other regular surveys, A. E. LePage Limited releases this detailed monthly study of the residential real estate market in Hastings County. The report covers 30 cities and towns in Hastings County, including Belleville, Marmora, Sidney, Thurlow and Trenton. The figures, which usually lag 30 to 60 days behind actual contract date of purchase and sale, are gathered from the Registry Office and compiled by A. E. LePage Limited.

The survey, which covers every registered real estate sale in the Hastings County area, should become a reliable indicator of activity and trends in home prices. Each subsequent release will contain more detail on trends by geographic area.

Election non-activity

There is a provincial election campaign under way in Ontario but the "fever" has not reached Stirling at this writing. Rallyes held so far have not been even close to this community, except for the Progressive Conservative barbeque at the Frankford fish and game club which was not advertised to any extent.

Not a word has been heard from the local associations of the three major parties. All three parties have nominated candidates but we have yet to see any campaigning done here.

An election probably is the single most important exercise to take place in a democratic society. For the system to operate properly, the voters must be informed. They must be given the opportunity to hear what the candidates have to say, to examine their platforms, in order to be in a position to make an intelligent decision at the polls.

We are fully aware the campaign is still in its early stages, but we would like to hear soon that the candidates are planning to make Stirling a part of their itinerary as they stalk the campaign trail.

Frankly, we wish the parties would get together long enough to organize an all-candidates night in Stirling. These meetings are tops when it comes to stirring voter interest.

What better way to examine the candidates than to have all party nominees present on the same platform for a red hot question and answer period? Much more exciting than the standard one-party rallies, attended almost exclusively by the party faithful, where few, if any, really tough questions are posed.

Are you listening, Mr. Rollins and Mr. Munro?

A high on hay

I suppose we are all prisoners of our childhood, to a certain extent but I just can't figure out how come I'm so gone on hay.

If cigars or chocolate bars or the musty aroma of old NSF cheques filled me with a sense of nostalgic pleasure, I would understand. Those were my playthings in the basement of my father's drug store on rainy days when I was a boy on the prairies. But hay.

I had a barn built this summer. At least, I call it a barn. It's not very big — 20 feet by 40, with a big sliding door facing south so that in winter the horses can move in and out as they please. At first it didn't do much for me. I could take this barn or leave it alone. But then in July, I guess it was, I made a deal for 300 bales of good horse hay and suddenly I couldn't stay out of the place.

The smell of the hay did it. To start with, we stored it pretty green. That's not generally a good idea. Green hay generates a lot of heat. If it's piled too high and tightly, spontaneous combustion is a definite danger. But a heavy rain was forecast, so we put it in. We didn't pile it too high or tightly. Even so, for a few days you could stick your hand in between the bales and it felt like a warm oven.

The smell at first was heavy and sweet and when I'd open the door it would hit me and I'd just stand there, thinking of my brother.

Now, it's not that my brother smells like a barnful of hay.

But somewhere deep in my memory, untapped for many years, there are these two small boys, myself and my brother, getting out of school in June and heading directly for a summer on our grandfather's farm.

We always had somewhat less than most kids today have, when they go away for the summer. Our summer equipment cost 50 cents each: a straw hat and a gopher trap.

We swam naked and our grandma or one of our aunts occasionally washed the clothes we came in, and that was it.

But when we got there the first thing we did was go down past the pump house to the barn and climb into the loft where the hay was. There was always this smell. That's more than 40 years ago now. But every time I stepped this summer into the scent of my own hay, it was like yesterday.

It's amazing how much time I spent there this summer, just thinking about how I'd fix the barn up inside.

I'd have a partition built. I figured, about six feet high with a stout plank gate on one end. That would fence off the hay from the horses. On the partition we'd build a feeder about 16 feet long, open at the top so that four or five bales of hay could be thrown in for the horses. Below would be a manger for oats. I'd move the oats barrel behind the gate, too, of course, to keep it from the horses.

But none of these plans came all at once. They took a whole summer of standing there in the middle of the barn, figuring things out — and thinking from time to time that I should phone my brother and ask him to drive the 300 miles from his place just to smell the hay.

Well, he hasn't smelled it yet. But one day it was raining a little and I went in there.

I was very tired, that afternoon. I thought I'd sit down on a bale of hay.

Then I thought: I can put my back against this bale, and my feet up on the next one. I did, and lay back. The smell of hay was all around me and the rain drummed on the roof. In a matter of seconds, I fell dreamlessly and comfortably asleep.

It was much later when my wife found me. I wakened only when she shoved the big sliding door open, and then looked at me and laughed.

I smiled at her but just lay there thinking: How long ago was it that I'd slept away my afternoon in a barnful of hay?

A Weekly Meditation

(by Rev. Roy Taylor)

FREEDOM

The Bible tells us of the most ridiculous bargain ever made. Esau sold his birthright for a morsel of meat. The Indian who sold a thousand acres of land for a string of beads made an infinitely better bargain. However, many people make ridiculous bargains like that even today.

Freedom is a universal topic throughout the world, in every country, in all classes of society; humanity dangerously sells the truth, forfeits its Christian birthright, for a morsel of popularity or fashion.

In Christ's time, the questions were asked, "Do the rulers believe Him? Will religion ever be popular? What will we gain by following Christ?" The question was not raised, however, is this truth? Rather, they asked if it were popular? Is it fashionable?

A railway gate keeper insisted that every passenger show his ticket before being allowed to board the train, which resulted in much grumbling, protesting and many accusations. One gentleman in passing said, "You seem to be a very unpopular man tonight," to which the agent candidly replied, "I care to be popular with only one man—the superintendent."

So it is with us, there is only one with whom it is very important that we be popular. It is far better to be popular with God than with the whole human race that is trying so desperately to be popular with each other without Him. Some people are dangerously close to being laughed out of their belief in God's word by being called "bigots"; laughed out of reverence for the Sabbath by being called "puritans"; laughed out of purity and the Christian profession of hope by being called "pious". They are willing to sell out the precious "truth" because of ridicule and unpopularity.

By the same token, there are those who believe that the truth of the Gospel is clearly defined in black and white terms, and not subject to any interpretation other than that which best suits their needs. Others change it to suit their own desires, on an "as required" basis, regardless of the original intent and purpose as revealed to us in Scripture.

Man must remember that the only real freedom is in the truth. Man is subject to error, is in bondage to sin and wrong-doing, but by the mercy and grace of our Lord, Jesus Christ, these human frailties are forgiven. It is required only that we confess our sins, tell Him the truth, and "the truth shall make you free."

Withholding the truth leads to anxiety and the denial of God. The only real victory is in loyalty to the truth. The smallest lie, uttered by the greatest man alive, is on its way to defeat, while the truth, uttered by the lowliest person in bondage, is on the way to victory. Buy the truth at any price, and never sell it for anything. Truth is the only position a man can have that will assure him of absolute freedom.

Money for drainage

by D. E. Presant, Agricultural Engineer, Stirling.

In June of 1971, the Tile Drainage Act, 1971, became law, replacing the old Tile Drainage Act which had been in effect for over 90 years.

The old Act was extremely valuable to farmers for tile installation and in this respect there is very little change in the new Act, for example:

-A farmer may borrow from the provincial treasury, through the township council, up to 75% of the total cost of installing a tile system, the interest rate on this loan is 4%.

-payment is over a ten year period in equal payments of principal and interest, paid in taxes.

-total loan may be repaid in full at any time during this ten year period.

-municipality must have a valid borrowing (enabling) by-law in effect.

Farmers wishing to borrow money under the Tile Drainage Act, 1971, must apply to the township council.

Who's responsible for Windshields?

When more than 50 motorists get their windshields broken as the result of flying stones following road surfacing treatment, who is responsible?

That is what Rawdon Reeve Ray Shortt would like to know and he is looking either to the county or to the county's liability insurance company.

This week at county council Reeve Shortt said that one day in August "nearly 100" windshields had been broken on the Campbellford road between Stirling and Mount Pleasant after new stone had been put on the road.

Motorists with comprehensive insurance had the windshields replaced but had to pay the first $25 themselves and the Rawdon Reeve doesn't feel this should have been. County clerk administrator Carl Bateman said that for motorists to collect it would have to be proved that the county was liable.

He suggested the only way to settle would be for the claimants to sue the county or the road contractor.

But Reeve Shortt didn't see it exactly that way.

He said he was getting "damned sick" of being told he would have to hire a solicitor to collect from the insurance company.

"You are a great fellow as long as you are paying premiums."

Road engineer Peter Anderson said he had received many letters regarding the broken windshields.

Lower licence fees for farm trucks

Reductions in licence fees for farm trucks with a registered gross weight of over 5,000 pounds were announced today by the Hon. Charles MacNaughton, Ontario's Minister of Transportation and Communications.

Mr. MacNaughton said the reductions were being made "because, under existing fee schedules, Ontario farmers are at a distinct competitive disadvantage with farmers in all other provinces except Newfoundland and Prince Edward Island."

The new schedule was developed after consultation with the Ontario Department of Agriculture and Food, the Ontario Federation of Agriculture and other representatives of the farming industry, Mr. MacNaughton added.

The new fee schedule will apply to eligible farm truck owners for 1972 registration.

Some examples of the changes are: 6,000 lbs. gross weight reduced from $44 to $37; 7,000 lbs. from $52 to $39; 8,000 lbs. from $61 to $41; 1,000 lbs. from $78 to $46; 12,000 lbs. from $95 to $40; 20,000 lbs. from $195 to $75 and 28,000 lbs. from $295 to $100. There are similar reductions throughout the entire fee schedule.

For vehicles of 5,000 lbs. gross weight and under such as half-ton pickup trucks, the fee will remain at $30.

Farm owners and tenants on farm properties coming under Ontario's Farm Tax Reduction Program will be eligible to apply for the reduced fees.

Excluded from the reduced fees are farm trucks operating under a Public Commercial Vehicle Licence and farmers who use vehicles for transporting commodities other than farm supplies and products.

Mr. MacNaughton said the Department of Transportation and Communications will mail eligible farmers a notice form setting out details of the new fee schedule.

Notification will be sent to eligible farmers by the Department before March 1, 1972. Farmers who do not receive notification by March 1 should contact their local licence issuing office.

Dollars and Good Sense

by William J. Martin

I've been saying it for years, but recently a university economist set forth some basic tips for avoiding losses when making purchases, that I'd like to pass along to you.

Mr. George Campbell of the University of Arizona said that the cost of living is creeping upward, making the household budget control a struggle for many families. He added that it is now more important than ever not to get "gipped" when making major purchases, such as household appliances, furniture, used cars and those other purchases where time payments and contracts are involved.

His rules for avoiding problems are:

1. Never sign anything you have not read or cannot understand. Once you sign it, you may be bound with a legal obligation even though it was not a fair or honest deal.

2. Turn off the high-pressure salesman and take time to think for yourself. Ask him to stop talking so you can read the contract.

3. Compare prices and bids; good businessmen are happy to give estimates.

4. Figure finance charges for installment purchases on a yearly basis and add these charges to the selling price.

Good advice to which I might add one of my favorites - keep a spending plan. I haven't talked about budgeting for a while and I'm starting to receive more mail about that subject.

Everybody, no matter what financial position they are in, should have a budget or as I prefer to call it, a spending plan.

It is really a simple thing to develop and utilize. A spending plan is nothing more than a spending of your income and your own spending pattern when you take the time to itemize it.

To this list, simply make some projections. Set some goals, start a saving plan. Reduce spending in certain areas that don't fit your over-all goals.

With a good working spending plan and the knowledge of how to avoid certain buying traps, your life will probably be a lot brighter. Try it, for as the professor said, with inflation and the cost of living steadily increasing, it is indeed more important than ever to practice sound family financial management.

the Second Forty by Margaret Brookfield A FORUM ABOUT MATURE WOMEN

Natural Change
Dear Margaret Brookfield:
After listening to all the middle-aged gals continually complain about the discomforts of the menopause, I can't help but wonder if it's advisable to condition all women to the fact that the change of life is supposedly always painful. Personally, I passed blithely through it at age 55 without symptoms of any kind. I skipped all the hot flashes and assorted troubles you're supposed to have at that age. It's my belief that much of the anticipated dread of the menopause can be relegated to ignorance and superstition if one has a basic knowledge of good living habits and is exposed to good literature on the chemistry of the body. Don't you think we should be taught that menopause is a normal function of the body and not to be feared?

F.S., Los Angeles, Calif.

You're absolutely right. The myths and old wives' tales have got to go. Menopause is a natural and normal change in a woman's life. But individual women do react to it differently. A fortunate few, like yourself, may pass blithely through it without even a twinge. Others are not so lucky. They may live right, eat properly, get the necessary exercise and still have a rough time. There's medical help, however, for those who need it. Many physicians report that in such cases estrogen therapy is useful in diminishing such symptoms as hot flashes, insomnia, anxiety and the like.

ARDA program helps reduce costs

The cost of producing food products on the farm has been kept to a minimum through the use of research which has produced a number of other advantages, improved varieties of crops, improved cultural practices, improved accounting systems and improved breeding practices for farm animals.

In spite of this improved efficiency which has resulted in one Canadian Farmer in 1971 producing enough food to feed three times as many people as he could in 1945, the cost of food has risen. To keep this cost rise to a minimum both the Federal and the Provincial Governments have provided financial assistance in various forms. One of these Assistance Programs, which is jointly sponsored, is the A.R.D.A. Program.

How does ARDA help? ARDA's objective is to help people help themselves. Farm Enlargement is one of these helping programs that has been widely accepted,

This is a program under which an established farmer may obtain the use of a nearby farm or ranch, at reasonable cost, for a period of up to 20 years on a rental basis. During the first 10 years of the agreement he would have the first opportunity to buy the farm at the price ARDA paid for it plus the cost of any permanent improvements made to it by ARDA. The agreements are for periods of five years each and they are usually slightly different in their terms.

Who is eligible? All full time farmers and farm operators, who with the additional land, who can demonstrate a need for additional land to make a viable unit and who have the management ability and access to sufficient capital or other assets to use the additional land to advantage, are eligible under the program. All applicants must agree to maintain satisfactory accounts and to review these with ARDA representatives from time to time. Land values must not exceed $150.00 per acre. While eligibility is relatively open the price which ARDA can pay for farm land is limited to a maximum of $150. per acre. This maximum applies whether or not the farm is free of buildings. It applies whether or not the land is all workable or whether or not it has been tilled. This means that there are many areas of the Province where land values are too high for ARDA to purchase and this eliminates the program for those areas.

Land Purchase Policy - While Farm Enlargement is the main purpose for purchasing land it is not the only reason. Farm land may be purchased from owners who through age, illness or for financial reasons are unable to continue farming and cannot find a suitable cash buyer for their land. ARDA can also purchase marginal agricultural land for transfer into forestry as well as land already in trees. It fits into an overall plan for forest development in the area.

Under certain conditions a farmer may sell his farm to ARDA and then be given a life lease on the farm home at a reasonable price while the working land is leased to a nearby farmer. Under other circumstances a farmer over 55 years of age may sell his farm to ARDA and be given a life lease on the farm home and a five year lease on the working land so that he may continue to be productive without worrying about where he will live or how he will meet the charges which may be involved in the ownership of land.

ARDA has expanded its service to the residents of Haliburton, Hastings, Northumberland, Peterborough, Durham, Ontario and Victoria. A Rural Development Officer has an office in the Peterborough office of the Ontario Department of Agriculture and Food and is available by appointment for discussions with clients in any of the offices of the Department in the counties listed. There are also two Rural Development Counsellors, one in Stirling and the other in Bancroft, available for discussions with rural people in those areas.

If you are a rural resident and you have a problem which involves the sale or purchase of land, contact your nearest office of the Ontario Department of Agriculture and arrange an appointment with an ARDA representative.

The female has a small crest and her plumage is a mixture of grey, brown and green. Tree cavities are favored nesting sites but nest boxes are widely used. Preferred habitat is the wooded shore of marshes, lakes and rivers.

Letter to the editor

Box 154,
Stirling, Ontario.
Dear Mr. Editor,
Stirling News-Argus
To the Candidates in Provincial Election in Hastings County and Stirling Area.

Particularly in the Hastings County and Stirling areas, we are extremely interested in the assessment evaluations which are excessive - also Regional Government aspirations.

The farming area is fast becoming depleted. Auction Sales average three and four a week, plus the closing of cheese factories, which is inexcusable. The evaluations on real estate in the smaller communities is far out of line in respect to income and cost of maintenance it requires for average respectability.

As a taxpayer, we ask that we be given prompt relief and action, which is badly lacking. Municipal Affairs and Agricultural Departments fail to give understandable answers.

Your comments will be greatly appreciated.

Respectfully Submitted,
G. H. Hogie.

TODAY'S CHILD

Toronto Telegram Syndicate

Chubby and cheerful

Tony is a cheerful baby, much interested in his surroundings. He is fascinated by moving objects and was completely absorbed when the picture was taken by the antics of two pet kittens in his foster home.

Tony is almost eight months old. He is making good progress in all areas, though not quite up to his age level in development because he was born very prematurely. He has had none of the health problems sometimes associated with prematurity. However, there are some abnormalities in his nervous-system reflexes and in the muscle tone of his legs. These symptoms suggest cerebral palsy (lack of muscle control), but it is too early yet to tell.

In the meantime, Tony is a happy boy, alert, responsive and playful. He is chubby and sturdily built, in good health. He has a real United Nations background — English, Irish, Scottish, Dutch, and German. Those big eyes are blue, his hair is blonde with a little curl, and he has fair skin.

This baby needs parents who will enjoy a lovable little boy and who can accept the possibility of Cerebral palsy.

To inquire about adopting Tony, please write to Today's Child, Department of Social and Family Services, Parliament Buildings, Toronto 182. For general adoption information, ask your Children's Aid Society.

St. Paul's Faith Unit

The Faith Unit of St. Paul's United Church Women opened its fall season with a meeting at the church on Sept. 21. Thirty ladies attended.

Mrs. Bruce Stapley welcomed them, and presented a quotation about how worry units one for service, and that the peace of God within is needed before ministry.

Various reports were received. Nine ladies put money into the Birthday Barrel, and were greeted in song.
Miss Lenora Williams led the worship service. Its theme was "Love". Hymns and Scripture reading were used, and Mrs. Donnan led in prayer. Mrs. F. Smith gave a meditation pointing out how love disciplines gossip. It should be tested as to truth, necessity, and kindness. Love also prompts an attitude of encouragement — positive, not negative — which should be at the back of speech, and honesty should govern reactions, both conscious and unconscious.

The offering was dedicated by Miss Williams.

The ladies then divided into four groups for discussion on some common problems — situations such as the misuse of welfare money, children vandalizing property, a gambling father in the home, and what to tell a desperately ill person.

Miss Williams read an article about how a child's attitudes are determined in early years. Mrs. R. Rose read excerpts from a paper entitled "We Must Stop Coddling the Kids," showing how common sense should operate, and that children need — and want — discipline. Parents fail who do not establish authority at the toddler stage. It was suggested that the media should publish more about the decent and good teenagers, rather than the opposite.

It was also pointed out that mothers are needed in the home, and that this would also help the unemployment situation. Material gain is too often put ahead of family needs.

The meeting closed with a hymn and a prayer led by Mrs. Carman Fitchett. After an enjoyable

Mrs. J. Carlisle was hostess for the Sept. 23 meeting of Bethel UCW, held in the church hall. Mrs. G. Russett read part of Psalm 121 as the opening thought followed by prayer.

The roll call was answered by 18 members with the name of a city mentioned in the Bible. There were also two small children present.

Mrs. O. Dracup was in charge of the worship service with the motto, Be ye kind one to another. Mrs. V. Hagerman was pianist for the hymn What a Friend we have in Jesus. The scripture, taken from 1st Corinthians, Chapter 13 was read by Mrs. O. Lightle followed by prayer.

The meditation was given by Mrs. Dracup on the theme, "Ministry of kindness." "Have you had a kindness shown — Pass it on." The hymn, Take my Life and let it be, closed the worship service.

A reading by Mrs. S. Kellar was entitled, Smile, you'll be surprised what you can do. Mrs. W. C. Cox showed a film on Brazil. It was interesting to note that people with laden donkeys travelled the streets with market buildings on one side and not far away on the other side were shacks or huts. The life expectancy of the people is about 35 years. This is expected to improve with the help of the churches in free clinics, maternity care, education and twice weekly distribution of food. Coffee is one of the main crops and this is easily destroyed by an early frost.

Mrs. Russett conducted the business session. Mrs. M. Wickens read the minutes and correspondence. Cards were signed to send some members in hospital. Plans were partly made for a future wedding. Remember the Fall Rally is in Tweed on Oct. 13.

Offering was received and dedicated. Mrs. Russett thanked those who had helped with the meeting and all repeated the Benediction.
